Gen. Pilsudski Relieves Russian Pressure Upon Gates of Warsaw

Soviet Forces Reported to be Falling Back in Confusion Before Poles

WARSAW, Aug. 17, a. m. (By Associated Press) The Russian pressure upon Warsaw has been relieved, according to the official Polish communiqué just issued. The statement reported that General Pilsudski directed the counter stroke that effected this relief.

The statement says the Bolsheviks who had planned to cross the Vistula southeast of Warsaw in the region of Maciejowice (35 miles from the capital) were forced back.

The ring wing of the fourth Polish army, in breaking the Soviet resistance at Kosów (32 miles south of Siedlce) took 200 Russians prisoner and captured some cannon and 14 machine guns.

Reds Fell In Disorder

WARSAW, Aug. 16, 5 p. m. (By Associated Press)—The Russian soviet hold upon the gates of Warsaw has been broken, according to allied officers here.

The Polish counter offensive is declared to be in full swing at various points.

MORE POLICE PROTECTION AT CITY BATH HOUSE

An additional police officer will be stationed at the municipal bath house and swimming pool off the Pawtucket boulevard at once as a result of a conference held in the mayor's office at city hall this morning at which were present Mayor Thompson, Harvey B. Greene of the park commission and Supt. John W. Kernan of the Park department.

Messrs. Greene and Kernan informed the mayor that a number of complaints had been received relative to the conduct of a certain hoodlum element accustomed to visit the bath house and making things disagreeable for other patrons. Officer Lynch, who is now stationed there, is doing excellent work, the park department officials said, but there is need of an additional officer.

The mayor promised to make arrangements to have a second officer on the job to assist in maintaining order.

U. S. PROPOSAL TO MEXICO

Colby Note Said to Agree to Recognition if Terms Are Accepted

North American Lives and Property Must Be Respected—Indemnities Demanded

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 17.—(By Associated Press)—President Wilson is ready to recognize the present Mexican government, if the latter agrees with the terms set forth in a proposal from Secretary of State Colby on this subject, according to a message sent to President De la Huerta from Fernando Calderon, Mexican high commissioner to the United States, now in the American capital, says the Excelsior today.

Secretary Colby's proposition, according to the newspaper, was:

First, that North American lives and property be respected.

Second, that indemnities be paid foreigners who suffered during the revolution.

Third, that the Carranza decrees which are found to be confiscatory be derogated.

NEW MINIMUM AGE FOR SCHOOL ENTRANCE

An important ruling of the school committee which is not generally known by parents and guardians of children who contemplate entering the elementary schools here in September provides that the minimum age at which a child will be eligible to enter the primary school this fall will be five years and three months, instead of five years as has formerly been the rule.

The new age regulations come as a result of the intention of the school department to establish the junior high school system here in the fall. The new system will mean a reduction of grades in the elementary schools from nine to eight and consequently a shorter period of time which the child will have to spend in school in order to complete his assigned elementary course.

The school committee contemplates advancing the entering age limit each year for three years. Next year, or in the fall of 1921, no child will be allowed to enter the elementary schools unless he is five years and six months old and in 1922 he must be five years and nine months old in order to begin his primary school career.

Many parents who have children just under or just over five years of age had planned to have their children enter school this fall, but have been told by the school authorities that they will have to wait another year before their children will be allowed to enter school. Unless the child will have actually become five years and three months old on Sept. 13, the day the schools re-open, he will not be allowed to enter.

As in former years, the regulation compelling vaccination of all children before they enter school, holds good. Vaccination sessions are being held every day except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, from 4 to 5 p. m. in the dispensary in the basement of city hall.

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Here is the first photograph of the Tennessee house of representatives in the special suffrage session, which will become historic if the house ratifies the suffrage amendment, as expected. This will complete ratification, giving the women of the entire nation the vote this fall. On the left is a closeup of Speaker Seth M. Walker of the house (also indicated by arrow in large photo), snapped as he was presiding over the suffrage session. Right, Speaker A. L. Todd of Tennessee senate, caught by the camera, gavel in hand, at the upper body's special session. The senate passed the ratification measure by the overwhelming vote of 25 to 4, and sent it on to the house for action.

To Vote Today

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 17.—The lower house of the Tennessee legislature will vote today on ratification of the federal suffrage amendment, both suffrage and opposition leaders announced last night.

The committee in charge of the ratification resolution held an executive session last night and Chairman Riddick planned to report the measure in the regular order of business today, probably within half an hour of the opening of the session at 10.30 o'clock.

Conflicting claims as to result of the vote were made last night. Seth Walker, speaker and leader of the opposition, said the amendment would be rejected.

"We have ratification beaten, that is all there is to it," he declared.

Suffrage leaders still were confident they would win. They have claimed a majority in the house since the legislative session began and said if members stood by their pledges, victory was certain.

Both suffrage and opposition workers last night confirmed reports that five of the seven members of the Davidson county (Nashville) delegation, pledged to suffrage, had gone over to the opposition. The anti's were jubilant over this accession to their ranks. The suffrage poll has listed from 33 to 60 members, including the Davidson delegation. Fifty votes is the constitutional majority necessary for ratification.

Costello could have turned over the money and in explaining the system in force at the office when he was employed there, said that it was practically impossible for the above items to be wrongly entered. He also said that the accounts with the railroad were allowed to remain open on the books because it was the custom in the office to await remittance through Costello and railroad bills were considered collectible at any time.

Three of the four persons authorized to receive money from Costello testified on the stand that the amounts in question were not received by them.

The fourth person to whom Costello was authorized to deliver cash paid by the Boston & Maine railroad was an assistant bookkeeper and is now deceased.

The mysterious suitcase

Because John Murphy of Billerica and Baker Clark of Cambridge thought that the dress suit cases which Michael Galvin and Dennis Reardon were carrying on Thorndike street near Middlesex about 11 o'clock last night contained Jamaica ginger, all four were arrested and answered to charges of drunkenness in police court this morning.

Galvin was fined $15; Reardon's case was placed on file, and Murphy and Clark were each fined $10.

Galvin and Reardon, both residents of Worthen street, have been up in Gardiner, Me., of late and yesterday returned to this city. While on their way home late last night they met Clark and Murphy.

A rough and tumble fight ensued and Patrolmen Garrity and Fanning were called to the scene and arrested all four for drunkenness.

John Ciemnukowski pleaded guilty to drunkenness in police court this morning. His wife declared that he took $100 from the house while on his escape and has not returned a cent.

John denied that statement, saying that he took $93, and that it must have fallen out of his pocket. The case was continued for one week for further investigation by the police.

John Carney, charged with neglecting to support his three minor children and his wife, pleaded guilty and was ordered to pay $12 a week for their support and to keep away from his wife's home.

Joseph Catrington and his brother John were both given sentences of three months in the house of correction, suspended for one year, for being stubborn boys.

TO REORGANIZE BUREAU OF IMMIGRATION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Reorganization of the bureau of immigration has been ordered by Assistant Secretary of Labor Post.

The action was taken, officials of the department said today because of conditions indicating "utter disorganization" of the bureau, both here and in its field service.

MAYOR STILL OPPOSES LAWRENCE STREET JOB

Mayor Perry D. Thompson is still opposed to the construction of a new concrete bridge in Lawrence street over the Concord river at a cost of more than $60,000, despite the fact that the work is already underway and Contractor Fred F. Meloy has submitted a bill for $11,000 for work accomplished so far, minus 15 per cent which the city is holding back.

The mayor has refused to approve Mr. Meloy's bill, but inasmuch as it has the approval of the four other members of the government it will be paid. The mayor's opposition is based on the belief that a lower figure could have been obtained if Mr. Meloy's estimate had been rejected and new bids called for.

ANNUAL OUTING FOR CHILDREN TOMORROW

Tomorrow will be held the annual outing of the children of St. Peter's orphanage at the Martin Luther grounds in Tyngsboro. The procession will leave the orphanage in Stevens street about 10 o'clock in the forenoon and will consist of about 45 automobiles. It will be headed by the Middlesex County Training school band and will be led by His Honor, Mayor Thompson in his auto. There are about 140 children to be provided for together with the ten Sisters of Charity in charge. The outing will be in charge of a committee made up of members from the six English speaking parishes. The return trip will be made about 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

DISCHARGED FROM HOSPITAL

William McShea and Thomas Carney, the two young men who were seriously injured in an automobile accident in Hammoth road Saturday evening, were able to leave the Lowell Corporation hospital yesterday afternoon and to return to their homes.

Mr. McShea is private secretary to Commissioner John F. Salmon.

WILL OPPOSE ROGERS STREET LAND TAKING

Mayor Perry D. Thompson will not sanction an appropriation for the taking over of two acres of land owned by the United States government in Rogers street near Fort Hill park when the matter comes before the municipal council at its special meeting tomorrow morning.

The mayor believes that the city's present financial condition and the fact that there are several other playground propositions still hanging fire make it inadvisable to take on the Belvidere project at the present time. There is a petition on hand for the taking over of Washington park as a playground and the first street playground is to be developed next year. Until these two projects are out of the way, the mayor believes that the Belvidere proposition should be allowed to hang fire.

He thinks the site ideal for a playground, his only opposition being that of expense. The land in question can be bought for $3500.

Cleveland Shortstop Struck by Ball Thrown by Pitcher Mays Dies in Hospital

Never Regained Consciousness, After Operation—Casts Gloom Over Players

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Raymond Chapman, shortstop on the Cleveland American league baseball team, who was hit on the head by a ball thrown by Pitcher Carl Mays, in yesterday's game with the New York Americans, died in the St. Lawrence hospital at 4.30 o'clock this morning.

He never regained consciousness after an operation, which was hurriedly decided on shortly after midnight, when a portion of his fractured skull was removed by surgeons who hoped against hope that he might recover.

Shortly before it was decided to operate, Manager Tris Speaker, already deeply apprehensive of his condition, telephoned news of the accident to Chapman's wife in Cleveland, who immediately started for New York.

SHOT AFTER 2 STORY PLUNGE

Girl Jumped to Escape Suitor—Fell on Fence—Shot While Crawling Away

Posse Immediately Formed to Run Down Murderer—To Use Bloodhounds

LYNDHURST, N. J., August 17.—Jumping from a second story window to escape a rejected suitor, Mary Velluto, 19-year-old Italian beauty, today fell on a picket fence and while crawling away to hide in an abandoned well, was shot and killed by him.

The suitor, according to the police, is Pasquale Melone of Syracuse, N. Y., a traveling salesman. A posse was immediately organized to track down the girl's assailant, who is believed to be hiding in a swamp bordering the Passaic river. Preparations were made to obtain bloodhounds for the chase.

TAX COLLECTORS STILL ON THE JOB

Revenue Tax Collectors R. D. Donogue and J. C. Harrington stationed at the local postoffice permanently, stated this morning that the intensive drive in the collection of luxury taxes has ended, but that they will keep close watch upon the tax accounts of all Lowell storekeepers in the future. In the luxury tax drive the collectors netted about $6000 or $7000 from delinquent storekeepers in this city. Some dealers had not made returns to the collectors for periods as long as a year or more, in spite of the fact that the law requires monthly returns.

Hereafter, the two collectors will confine their activities locally. During the drive they were assisted by others in collecting in all the cities and towns of the Merrimack valley.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE

The charm of Blanche Sweet's personality literally floods every scene of "Simple Souls," the Jesse D. Hammons production which opened a three days' engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre yesterday. It is based on the popular novel by John Hastings Turner and made a strong appeal to the large audiences present at both performances.

Miss Sweet is cast in a role which requires a full complement of histrionic abilities. From the sweet simplicity of an unsophisticated girl to the quick wrath and fear of a woman scorned, she is admirable.

Briefly, the story is that of a poor, discouraged shop girl who dreams of happiness but sees no chance of getting it. Sitting desolately in a park, she arouses the sympathy of a duke who makes a chance acquaintance and later regularly sends her books of which she is very fond. This brings her into disrepute with her mother. The duke learns of the situation and marries her, but snobbish relatives endeavor to break up the couple. The girl weathers a series of difficult situations and finally wins out.

Supporting Miss Sweet are Charles Meredith, Herbert Standing, Kate Lester and other favorites. The picture is of the type that makes a splendid warm-weather attraction.

The other feature for the first half of the week at the Merrimack Square is "The Gift Supreme," a strong drama of modern life, featuring Bernard Durning and Tully Marshall, two popular favorites. The story of the drama tells of the adventures of a sophisticated youth who falls in love with a poor girl. When he is about to marry her, his fastidious parents object and it is then that the battle of wits begins. He is even arrayed against a band of hired crooks but his squareness and policy of fair play win him his coveted prize.

A Christie comedy, the International News and Topics of the Day complete the bill.

THE STRAND

Majestic Alice Brady, she of the distinguished bearing, wonderful gown and innate ability, is at The Strand for the first half of the week in her latest release, "A Dark Lantern," a story revolving about the war, yet becoming seriously entangled with it at any time.

Miss Brady in this production is a daughter of wealth, pampered, petted and receiving the utmost attention from everybody. From the moment she looks for instant devotion. With this endowment of qualities she sets forth on a visit to Europe and there meets one Prince Anton, handsome, a breaker of hearts and an immediate admirer of the American girl. There is mutual appeal and the two depart with the understanding that they are to meet again.

At home the girl's father is being treated by a young physician, a serious-minded, free-thinking chap, who pays little or no attention to his patient's daughter. More or less stunned by the failure of any man to become infatuated with her, the daughter makes known her displeasure but it changes the attitude of the physician not a particle.

Then comes another meeting with the foreign prince, his suggestion that the girl become his morganic wife and her utter disgust. She leaves him, again returning home and suffers a breakdown. The young physician, again, treats her in a wholly professional, impersonal manner and fails to respond to her rapidly developing affection.

The story goes on with the prince again appearing and the girl realizes that he is nothing but a cad. Eventually the feelings that really exist between the doctor and the girl are brought to the surface and the romance ends happily.

Miss Brady plays the stellar role in her usual accomplished manner and the gown she wears is one of the most lavish and stunning shown in any Brady production. A capable cast supports the star.

The other feature for the first half of the week is Will Rogers rugged and virile as ever in "The Strange Boarder," an unusual story of human interest. A comedy, the "News Weekly" and other short features, together with musical numbers, round out an excellent bill.

KEITH'S THEATRE

Ed. E. Ford is an Australian. He has been in the "stars" but a short time. He was brought across the ocean by the managers of Keith's circuit, and, if there are any more artists of the quality of Mr. Ford in the antipodes, American lovers of vaudeville would undoubtedly like to see them also brought over here.

Mr. Ford was the bright particular star of the program at Keith's when it opened for the season yesterday. He is set down upon the list of entertainers as a "Paradoxical Physiognomist." That means that he is a past grand master of the ancient art of "making faces." He has a countenance apparently compounded of jelly and India rubber. His eyes are fixed in universal joint sockets. He can hold four golf balls in his mouth at one time. What is more, he can make you laugh with his strange facial contortions until you hang onto your sides. He is a whole host of comic cartoons in one person. Incidentally, he proved himself yesterday, something of an improviser.

For quiet humor, there have been few comedy sketches seen in Lowell for a long time that are the equal of a "Friendly Call," presented by Chas. Mack & Company. The friendly call is made by a friend who undertakes to cheer up a sick man, and does so by reminding him of lugubrious happen-book, "Guests of Hercules," by C. N. and A. M. Williamson? Whether you have or not, you must be sure to see it in picture form, under the title "Paradise Playhouse," playing at the Owl theatre this week. Katherine McDonald, a Lowell favorite, plays the leading part, that of Mary Grant, a convent girl, left at the age of 21 with 50,000 pounds and no one to guide her; the lure of the gambler in her through inheritance and the daughter of a runaway mother.

"THE STRANGE BOARDER"

Despite the warning of her friend, Molly Maxwell, who pointed to the fate of Marie Grant, a third whom she had run away from the convent with a married man, Mary responded to the call when she came into her inheritance at the age of 24, made big winnings and was the center of attraction at Monte Carlo. Prince Van-Della Robbia fell in love with her. He introduced her to his brother, Prince Angelo, whose bride price was the runaway, Marie Grant. Mary in the meantime is the victim of adventures who seek to steal her riches. The prince, however, proves his mettle in a dramatic climax.

The prince, Norman Kerry, is a bit new in pictures, but he is sure to stay. He's a handsome chap and plays his part with ease.

As for Miss McDonald, other critics have proclaimed this picture her best work. She has a sweet, sympathetic, wistful sort of a smile that wins you over every time, and her gown are dreamy creations.

Edwin Stevens plays the "heavy," Viscount Dauntrey, "last and least of his line." He isn't the least when it comes to villainy. But at that, when he is a streak of good in him when he hesitates to use the powerful narcotic, which he knows the danger, on Mary Grant, so that he and his Macbethian wife may get Mary's jewels. The remainder of the cast is fully up to First National standard. Charlie Chaplin went big yesterday, in his burlesque on "Carmen." Incidentally, Charlie puts in a bit of real acting, too, in the windup. Edna Frawley is the Carmen.

There's another girl in the films that you must cultivate, and that is Eileen Percy, playing the feminine lead in the serial, "The Third Eye," with Warner Oland. Eileen can fight. Her struggle to reach the precious celluloid containing proof of her guilt of murder was might realistic.

A Sunshine comedy, a news reel and a Ford educational weekly complete the bill.

HAVE GREAT RECORDS AS KAYO ARTISTS

In matching "Fighting" Ned Fitzgerald of Australia and Spider Roach of San Francisco for the main bout at Cuddy Brothers arena on Thursday night, Matchmaker Harvey declares that he has secured another pair of action producers.

They are strangers to Lowell fans. Like Murphy and Fitzsimmons were, said Harvey, "but after the fans see them in action these battlers will also prove great favorites."

Fitzgerald has been in this country but six weeks, and has engaged in but one bout, in which he scored a victory over George Papp, the French champion at Montreal, in five rounds. He is a terrific hitter and his record in Australia shows 15 knockouts in 31 bouts. He then went to England where he scored four kayos in five engagements. He boasts of a victory over Frankie Daley, of Staten Island, a boy who made Jack Sharkey, Joe Lynch, Terry Martin and others extend themselves.

Since coming east Roach has set up a fine reputation as a puncher, scoring seven K O victories out of nine starts. On the coast he put up a sensational four-round bout with Champion Benny Leonard.

EXPECT RECORD TURN
OUT AT LAWRENCE

LAWRENCE, Aug. 17.—When Mike O'Dowd of St. Paul and Tommy Robson of Malden meet in a twelve round bout at Cuddy Brothers arena next Saturday afternoon, a record crowd is expected to witness the mill. Since the announcement of the match there has been a big demand for tickets and especially during the past few days, the number of reservations has been large, the advance sale by far exceeding that of any previous card offered by the Atlas.

There is much interest in Boston regarding this bout. O'Dowd is quite a favorite there and Robson, too, has many admirers in the Hub. Robson is also a great favorite throughout New England and when he meets O'Dowd, the Malden boy will be looking for a big fight.

Robson has always been a big favorite in this city. Boston fans, admirers of Robson, after reserving one section, have sent in a demand for another big block of tickets and Robson will not lack for supporters when he meets the St. Paul battler.

Matchmaker Cuddy has arranged a preliminary program which will include three eight-round bouts. Billy Edwards of Lawrence will meet Tony Valian of Brighton. Mike Castle of Lawrence will oppose Frankie Ryan of Everett and Clifford Gianni of Lowell will meet Frank Molins of Lowell. The preliminary program will start at 2:30 o'clock.

BENNY LEONARD
TO DEFEND TITLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, will defend his title at Madison Square Garden, Saturday night, September 1, against a challenger to be named by his manager, Billy Gibson. Articles were signed last night by Gibson, "The Ring" and "The Fight" in the Garden, calling for a 15-round decision bout with an opponent to be announced by Richard.

In a few days, Leonard will select the opponent from a quintet of eligibles composed of Joe Welling, Eddie Fitzsimmons, Johnny Dundee, Law Tandler and Charlie White. Leonard is to receive a guarantee of $50,000, but must post a forfeit of $20,000 to guarantee that he will make the lightweight limit for the bout.

ROBSON SAYS MUSIC
HATH ITS CHARMS

The Honey Boy quartet of this city were the guests of Tommy Robson of Malden, the boxer, who is to meet Mike O'Dowd in Lawrence next Saturday, at Robson's training camp near New Bedford Sunday afternoon and evening. The Lowell sinners enjoyed the occasion with a series of songs and dances. They report the Malden fighter in excellent trim for the coming bout.

LOCAL FIREMEN LOSE

The team representing the first shift of the local fire department was defeated by the Derby, N. H., department on the latter's grounds yesterday afternoon, 7 to 3. Following the game the players enjoyed a luncheon at the Derby central fire station.

MAPLES ADD TO VICTORIES

The Maples added two more games to their long list of victories by defeating the strong State Infantry team at Tewksbury Saturday afternoon 7 to 4, and winning from the Old Timers Sunday afternoon, at the Dixwell grounds 11 to 2.

The features of the games were the pitching of Cox and McLean and the fielding of Cunha and Boyle.

The Maples would like to hear from Saco-Lowell or St. Peter's A.A. or any other strong team of the city.

SOCCER FOOTBALL

The soccer football game which was scheduled between Abbot Worsted Co. and Arlington mills of Lawrence for Wednesday evening on the South common has been called off on account of the Lawrence players being away on vacations.

The Abbot team's first away-from-home game will be against the Americans at Manchester, N. H., Sept. 4.

F. Swindell, last season's goal for the champion Abbot team, will play for the Arlington this year, having signed a contract yesterday.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Beagons met the U. S. Worsted aggregation Saturday afternoon on the North common and the former won, 5 to 3. The Beagons also defeated the Federals Sunday afternoon, 5 to 1, on the Christian Hill grounds.

The Young Hunters would like to challenge the Liberty A.C. on the Lakewood avenue grounds Thursday at 6 o'clock.

AMERICAN ATHLETES
LEAD IN OLYMPICS

ANTWERP, Aug. 17.—America's powerful and well-balanced track and field team continued to gather honors in the second day of the seventh Olympiad. It outclassed all the other nations' combinations but its members were not strong enough individually to win all the first place honors, particularly in the classic ancient pentathlon in which the Finnish star, E. Lonninen, proved to be the best all-round athlete.

In addition to the Americans' scoring the greatest number of points, the only world record of the day was made by Frank Lonnis of the Chicago A.A. In the 100-meter hurdles, with 34 seconds flat, a full second better than the time made by C. Bacon in the same event in 1908. In both the hurdles and the 100-meter dash, four of the six finalists were American athletes, of whom three ran first in the hurdles and two first in the 100-meter dash.

A majority of the experts at the finish line of the 100-meter event, but not the officials, insisted that J. V. Scholz of the University of Missouri was third instead of fifth as officially placed, but a protest entered by the Americans was withdrawn, when it was realized that there was no going behind the official decision.

In the other event, the heats before the semi-finals in the 800-meter run, all the Americans retained places, but it was generally conceded by the American runners that the South African, B. G. D. Rudd, has a sure first in the final.

The Americans' performances yesterday netted them a total of 42 points in the track and field events—17 in the hurdles, 15 in the 100-meter dash and 11 in the pentathlon, a record of a possible 66 for the day's contests.

Sweden, which gained only one-fifth place yesterday to add to Sunday's one-sixth place, has only a three-point track total. In the Finland, by the 13 points won in the javelin throw Sunday and the 10 in yesterday's pentathlon has 29 and is second to the Americans.

France has 6 points, England 4, Estonia 2 and Norway 1.

Lonnis led safely all the way and won by three yards from J. K. Norton of the Olympic club, San Francisco, the second man. A. G. Desch of Notre Dame university won third place by inches from Georges Andre of France, with Carl Christensen of Sweden and Charles L. Daggis of the Los Angeles A.C. close up in fifth and sixth positions respectively.

Lieut. D. M. Scott, United States army, won the first of three qualifying heats for the semi-finals in the 800-meter run, E. D. Mountain, Cambridge University A.C., England, was second and A. B. Sprout, Los Angeles, third. The time was 1 minute, 15.5 seconds. All three qualify for the semi-finals.

The second heat was won by B. G. D. Rudd of South Africa. Thomas Campbell of Yale university was second and Paulien of Holland-third. The time was 1 minute, 37 seconds.

The official world's record for the 440-yard hurdles is 56.15 seconds, made by G. R. L. Anderson of England, July 16, 1910. A new record of 54.35 seconds, however, was made by W. H. Meakin at Cambridge, Mass., July 16, 1915, but this record has not yet been officially passed upon by the international records committee of the International Amateur Athletic Federation which held its last meeting at Lyons, France, in June, 1914. The federation will hold a meeting during the present Olympic games and undoubtedly will approve this and numerous other new records since the 1914 meeting.

UNKNOWN MAN
KILLS HIMSELF

NORTH BROOKFIELD, Aug. 17.—The police are trying to identify the body of a man who committed suicide by shooting himself through the right temple with a small calibre revolver, probably some time yesterday. The body was found lying in a grove between Summer and Maple streets yesterday afternoon by passersby.

The revolver, with one cartridge expended, lay a few inches from the body. The man was about 35 years old, with dark brown hair, gray eyes, and smooth shaven and pointed features. The teeth are perfect, with the upper frontal ones protruding. The body is clothed in a blue suit, coat size 36, bearing the label of Halbert & Co., Boston. The shoes are seven and one-half, blue top, and bear the mark of S. F. Martin, Westboro.

Medical Examiner Charles A. Deland Warren said death was self-inflicted. Residents of North Brookfield claim to have seen the man about North Brookfield the past two or three days, but none is able to give a clue to his identity.

U. S. WRESTLER WINS

Swigart Throws Italian—
Latter Kissed Winner at
Conclusion of Match

ANTWERP, Aug. 17.—In the Greek-Roman wrestling preliminaries yesterday, Swigart, of the United States navy, threw Three Rauglers, Italian, with a double arm bar after three minutes of wrestling. The Italian kissed the American at the conclusion of the match and Swigart returned the salute.

The crew of the United States naval academy continues practice morning and afternoon, and these workouts never fail to attract the interest of Belgians who group along the canal critically watching the crew, rowing being one sport with which the townspeople have been long familiar. The vigor and snap of the young Americans is a novelty here, European oarsmen generally being older men.

The Middle throw in the entire weight of their bodies into the stroke and get a tremendous leg drive which makes the shell fairly leap. Another surprising American innovation has been the work of the oarsmen in pushing their shells down to the water and running back to the boat-house for their oars. Belgian crews have their oars brought to the landing stage by women attendants.

The Americans continue to beat the water in the canal is dead and heavy, but nevertheless they have raced over the 2000-metre course in better time than they made at Worcester, where they won the Olympic try-out on July 24. Scores of Belgians are daily holding stop watches on the Americans doing their best to discover what the shingles can do in their shells.

Sweden's oarsmen have arrived and are quartered next door to the American crew. The Swedish outfit consists of one four-oar shell; one two-oared shell and one single sculler. The oarsmen are big heavy men who apparently are between 25 and 35 years of age. Other European oarsmen are due here next week. They are at present at Lyons, France, where they are competing for the world's championships.

Blow on Head Kills Chapman

baseball world in general, and today's game between Cleveland and New York was postponed. Carl Mays was overcome with grief when the news was told to him.

The accident occurred at the outset of the fifth inning. Chapman was the first batter up and was hit by the first ball pitched. So terrific was the blow that the report of the impact caused spectators to think the ball had struck his bat. Mays, who pitched the ball, acting under this impression, held the ball that rebounded half way to the pitcher's box, and threw it to first base, in order to retire Chapman.

Collapsed at Plate

Then it was noticed that Chapman had collapsed at the home plate. He was lifted to his feet by other players, then he stood dazed for a moment, staggered and crumpled up at their feet. Physicians were immediately called from the grandstand. They administered first aid, still not knowing that he had suffered a fractured skull.

Two players with Chapman's arms about their shoulders, started to walk him off the field. He appeared to walk at first almost unaided, but in a few moments later his legs became limp and he had to be carried bodily to an ambulance.

Manager Tris Speaker and Business Manager Walter McNichols of Cleveland, went to the hospital immediately after the game and were at the institution when the operation was performed. The surgeons made an incision 3 1/2 inches long through the base of the skull on the left side. They discovered a rupture of the lateral sinus and a quantity of clotted blood. A small piece of the skull was removed.

May Hamper Cleveland's Chances

The physicians at first entertained faint hope that the ball player would recover, but he failed to rally.

Mays, in discussing the accident, said that the ball he threw was a "sailer"—one that breaks sharply on one side, due usually to a rough spot on the cover. He asked for another ball before pitching to Speaker who followed Chapman at the plate, and the ball which fatally injured the shortstop was thrown out of the game.

In baseball circles, it was believed that Chapman's death would seriously hamper Cleveland's chance of capturing the American league pennant. He was a veteran and one of the mainstays of the team.

OLD SALTS TELL OF MINE-LAYING

Lowell Men Had a Part in
Death-Defying Struggle in
North Sea

Battleship Takes a Wild
Plunge as Field of Bombs
is Exploded

Many incidents and facts connected with mine-laying by the United States navy in the North Sea have never been given to the public by the government. Two old sailors who know something about them are Chief Prim Turcotte, now pensioned from the navy after 20 years' service and living in this city, and Chief Joseph Crepeau of the local navy recruiting station, who has almost as many years to his credit, both of whom served on board the U. S. San Francisco in a mine-laying squadron in the North Sea during the world war.

The San Francisco, captained by R. R. Belknap, was one of ten vessels comprising a mining squadron of two sections which sheltered in two harbors in Inverness Firth, Scotland. Because the San Francisco was the flagship for the squadron, Chiefs Turcotte and Crepeau were in the midst of activities at all times.

Death-Defying Struggle

On May 25, 1918, the mining squadron anchored at 3 a. m. at Base 18 in the Firth. Preparations for their death-defying struggle were begun. On May 27, at 9 a. m. all hands were coaling ship, previous to a short rest before taking mines aboard at midnight. As darkness drew down upon the sea the mining squadron steamed out five miles from the city proper at Inverness, Scotland, and at exactly midnight the crews were set to work taking on mines, each of which was loaded with 300 pounds of "TNT," and weighed in all, including anchorage, about 1100 pounds.

While the crew worked like Trojans with nerves alert for the ever expected attack of a submarine or a destroyer squadron, anywhere from 50 to 170 mines were taken aboard each vessel. The method of loading the mine layers required about four or six lighters, with about 50 mines on each, to haul up alongside. By means of four booms, two on each side of a vessel, the mines were hoisted aboard onto tracks on the decks.

Loading the Mines

The utmost care was needed in loading the vessels with mines as they had to be placed correctly on deck tracks to be ready for instant use.

Chiefs Crepeau and Turcotte remember times when the mine-laying squadron was caught by the enemy in the act of taking on mines and when they were saved from destruction by the tactics of their protecting destroyers which threw a smoke screen around all the vessels, thus hiding their escape.

At another time the two officers say that when they were planting mines near Westray firth, near the northern part of the Orkney islands, the flagship sunk one submarine as it tried to plunge past the bow on its deadly errand to blow up a few of the American vessels.

The mines used by the San Francisco squadron were a new style provided with an electrical contact which would explode them as soon as touched with steel. So delicate was the contact that a mine would explode if touched by a handful of nails dropped upon it through the water.

Americans Had Best of It

The American mines were anchored in such a way that enemy vessels, plowing through the water, could not cut them from their anchorage and float them as the Americans could do with the German mines.

In August, 1918, the flagship San Francisco made a special excursion for experimental tests in countermining mines. The naval authorities were baffled by the exploding of many of the planted mines without any conceivable cause, but they suspected one fault was that when one mine exploded the concussion caused others nearby to do so. The San Francisco was sent out at full speed to drop depth charges at distances of 200 yards in the mine fields to find if that were true. At one place the squadron had planted a field of 30 mines, all closely laid in a very limited area.

The flagship, plowing through the water at a terrific rate of speed, and dropping depth charges as it went,

I SUFFERED FOUR YEARS

I Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Now I Can Do all My Own Work.

Charleston, Ill.—"I suffered for four years with female troubles and a displacement. I was not able to do any work and was a misery to myself and my family. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you may use these facts as a testimonial if you wish."—MARY JANE HOUSE, 409 N. 12th Street, Charleston, Ill.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Backache and nervousness are symptoms or nature's warnings, which indicate a functional disturbance or an unhealthy condition which often develops into a more serious ailment.

steamed by this field of thirty and, 200 yards ahead of it, dropped a powerful depth bomb.

Immediately the entire field of 30 exploded, throwing the San Francisco almost on top of the mountains of water which rose and fell back to the sea with a thundering roar.

Suffered By Plunge

The hands below deck did not know about the field of 30 mines and were stupefied by the wild plunge the vessel took, many of them being thrown headlong.

After the armistice, the navy proceeded to pick up all the mines planted in the North Sea which had not exploded. When they were pretty well advanced with that work the commander of the flagship asked for volunteers to man two wooden sloops to sweep up those mines not already salvaged. An officer asked Chief Turcotte to volunteer, saying that if he came out all right he would be in the limelight. Chief Turcotte's idea was that if anything went wrong he would be so far in the moonlight that he could never hope to see the limelight.

In company with every other man aboard, however, with one-half hour given to decide, he volunteered his services along with Chief Crepeau.

Wooden sloops were sent out because they could hit a mine with a chance that it would not explode. Since all the men offered their services, lots were drawn from a hat to designate the "lucky" ones. As it happened, Chiefs Turcotte and Crepeau were not among the men chosen and so they are living today. The two sloops met with ill fortune and some of the crews were blown to atoms.

Local sportsmen, whose fingers have been itching for the past nine months to handle a trusty guage again, will be interested to know that beginning yesterday morning at one-half hour before sunrise (Massachusetts daylight saving time) it was lawful to hunt and kill migratory shore birds. Most of these birds will pass over this state between now and the fifteenth of September and at the present time thousands are along our shores and in the marshes along the coasts and rivers.

The federal and state laws require that only the four following species of these birds can be killed: Black breasted plover, golden plover, greater yellow legs and lesser yellow legs. Particular attention is called to the fact that the so-called "sand-peeps" must not be killed or hunted.

Only 15 in the aggregate of the above four species can be killed by each hunter in one day. Hunting cannot be done from a boat propelled other than by oars or paddlers or from automobiles.

All sportsmen realize that the regular hunting license is necessary before they start on a shore hunting trip and that guns larger than 10 guage cannot be used in hunting these migratory birds.

Sportsmen who are thinking of running down to the marshes to take a crack at these crafty little creatures should realize that these rules have not only been written in the state laws but also in the federal laws and violators of these regulations will be haled before the United States commissioner in Boston. The federal regulations on these and other migratory birds are under a treaty made between this country and Great Britain in 1917 for the uniform protection of migratory birds on the North American continent. Hence, the authorities regard this matter as very important and not trivial as in the sportsman's eye.

Director of Fisheries and Game, William C. Adams, of the state department and the United States game wardens in this locality have announced that this year the laws will be enforced to the limit, despite the fact that for the past year or so, until the supreme court declared the law constitutional and congress appropriated the money to enforce the regulations, the laws have been rather laxly enforced.

The town of Digny, France, was reduced in population from 10,000 to 1500 by a plague in 1623.

Are the Best Tires too good for the Small Car Owner

EVERYBODY agrees that it is generally desirable for merchandise to be graded.

A good principle that often comes out at the wrong end for the car owner—the man with the upkeep on his mind—the tire bills to pay.

He feels that tire economy should be a personal contract with the tire-user. Not a transaction with his car, whether it be big or small.

Reasoning tires in human terms instead of trade custom has written this policy for the United States Rubber Company—

Build all tires to one

standard and let the tire user choose his own size.

When the oldest and largest rubber manufacturing concern in the world focuses all its resources upon one grade, one quality, it makes one client—and that is the whole public.

This single ideal is visible in any U. S. Tire factory, at any U. S. distributing branch, in any U. S. dealer's store.

Seeing that the tire-user gets his economy mileage along with an unlimited guarantee.

Policies are harder to make than tires.

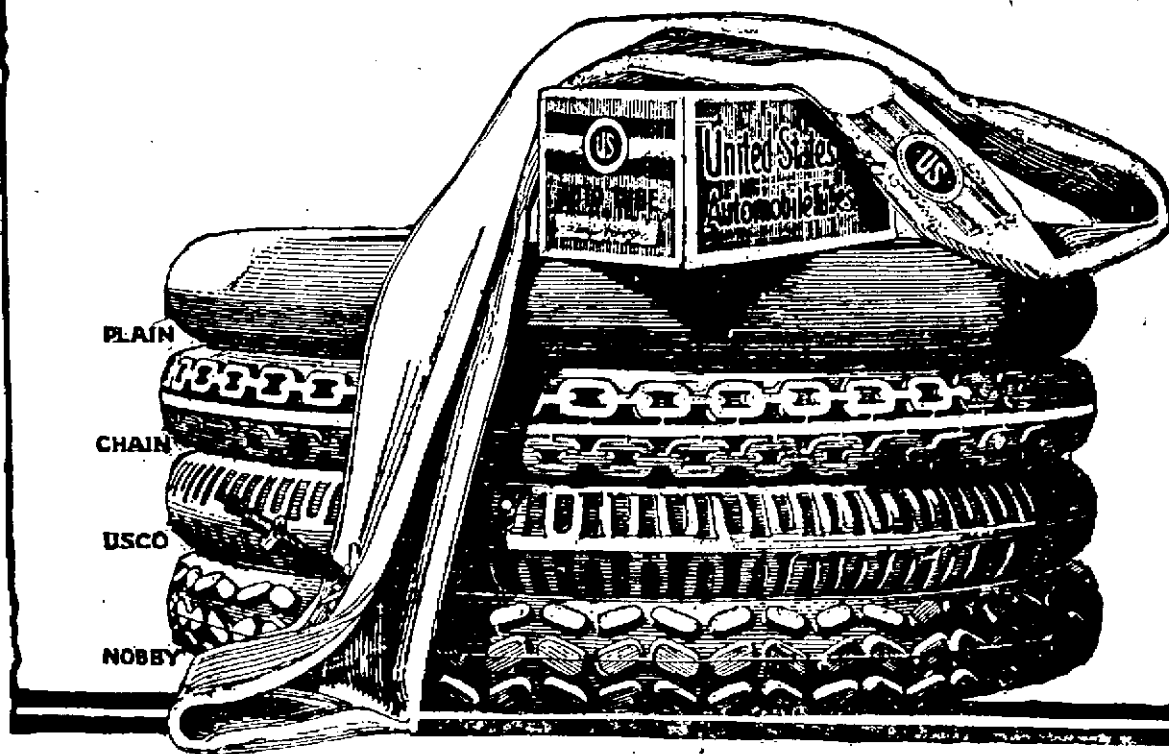

Probably the deepest reason why U. S. demand keeps always ahead of the number of tires the U. S. makers can supply.

retary of the local Y.M.C.A. is attending an industrial conference at Silver Bay, Lake George, N. Y. Silver Bay is the headquarters for all country-wide and international conferences. He left this city in company with G. Edgar Polk, industrial secretary of the Lawrence association. The conference will last until the 21st of this month and is being attended by all the industrial secretaries of the United States and Canada and all others interested in welfare work in industrial organizations.

After this conference, Mr. Hockman will attend a three day conference at Silver Bay of the "Institute on Human Relations in Industry." This will be attended by the foremen, heads of personnel departments and others of industrial plants throughout the country. Last year the conference was attended by fully 600 men representatives from nearly every large city in the country. The speakers for both conferences are men very prominent in industrial work throughout the country.

Before his return, Mr. Hockman will also confer with Dr. George Sawyer, state director of industrial work on a special program for this city. Assistant Physical Director, Frank Sawyer of the local "Y" is attending an all-month conference which will close on the first of September. Mr. Sawyer is attending the meeting with special interest in boys' work. He has been at the local association for the past two years and will be in charge of the boys' physical work this year.

According to the records at the Y.M.C.A., the attendance during the summer at the swimming pool and gymnasium is the largest in the history of the building. The summer membership has shown a decided increase.

LLOYD GEORGE'S TREACHERY

Again an ominous war cloud lowers over Europe and threatens another world holocaust. The Bolsheviks are thundering at the gates of Warsaw and threaten a German alliance against the rest of the world.

The United States and France have taken a bold stand against any recognition of a Bolshevik Russia. France, in adopting a course entirely in accord with that of the United States, has had to cast aside the leadership of Premier Lloyd George of England who was preparing to compromise with the Soviet leaders, even to the extent of recognition of their government.

But for this set-back by the United States and France the British premier would have laid the plans for the universal recognition of the Bolshevik regime, thus enabling the leaders to plan new conquests.

It is true, that they may be able temporarily to extend their authority over Poland, but in deciding to treat with them, Lloyd George was thinking more of the safety of India than of Poland. Because the Russians had entered Persia and had threatened India, the British premier has practically agreed to sacrifice Poland in order to save India. He has indicated a willingness to accept the drastic terms by which Poland would be shorn of all power and placed under Bolshevik control. It appears also that he is ready to sit at the same council table with Trotsky and Lenin, although both they and their representatives have openly boasted that they were ready to sign treaties with other powers without having the least intention of observing them, their position being that no contract or agreement with the non-Bolshevik governments can bind them morally.

The fact is, that they have no moral sense or principle and that it would, therefore, be futile to treat with them by any other means than force. The attitude taken by President Wilson on this question has met the approval of all the powers which are not infected by the Bolshevik germ. As for Lloyd George, he himself is of Bolshevik tendencies and the result is seen in the strong, popular protest entered in England against any step calculated to bring about the defeat of Soviet Russia.

Premier Millerand of France, echoing the words of Secretary Colby addressed to the ambassador of Italy, says:

"We cannot have official relations with a government which is resolved to conspire against our institutions, whose diplomats would be instigators of revolts and whose orators proclaim that they will sign contracts with the intention of not fulfilling them."

The Bolsheviks may take Warsaw and conquer Poland, but in view of what they are, to compromise with them in any way would only extend their sway and their influence. It would be regarded as a surrender by the powers so recognizing them and as such would vastly increase their prestige throughout the world.

There is a new European menace which seems also to threaten the United States, but we are not afraid of it and we will hold aloof from any other power that would invite the Bolshevik looters to join the family of nations without first repudiating its policies of pillage, slaughter and violation of all the principles of morality upon which our modern civilization is founded.

REPUBLICANS BLAMED

It is not creditable to the republican legislature of this state that any such scheme as that foisted on the public by Mr. Ponzi should be permitted to fool the people without being questioned by any government official. From the very nature of the proposition, any official, even slightly conversant with financial affairs, could see that it was a gigantic fraud, yet it was allowed to carry on openly without let or hindrance until other banking officials became alarmed at the extent of the Ponzi operations. Simon Swig had the foresight to order the Ponzi deposits removed from the financial institution with which he is connected, but State Treasurer Burrell did not see any reason why he should withdraw the state deposits from the Hanover Trust company, the chief depository of the Ponzi funds.

Where was the bank commissioner during the seven months in which Ponzi was engaged in swindling the people? Is he not supposed to concern himself with any banking operation involving large deposits or loans at excessive rates of interest?

It is a fact that certain stock jobbing concerns that were driven out of other states, found an asylum here. With these the bank commissioner had nothing to do as their business was not one of deposit. But surely that of Ponzi came under his jurisdiction and yet it was conducted for months without being molested. Somebody else is to blame almost as much as Ponzi.

Evidently the people want a better enforcement of the laws now in existence or else the enactment of new laws to protect the people from such swindling schemes.

There should be a law under which some state official would pass upon every financial scheme calling for money from the people or offering stock for sale. The so-called "blue sky law" may be regarded as too drastic; but if we had such a law in this state, the people would be protected against swindles of the Ponzi type and against various wild investments foisted upon the public and represented as wealth producers in cases in which there are no tangible assets beyond an imaginary mine or an untested and wholly worthless oil field.

The Ponzi affair proves the inadequacy of our laws and the gullibility of our people, many of whom drew their money from the savings banks in which it was perfectly safe and where it was earning a good rate of interest, to hand it over to a princely swindler under promise of impossible profits.

Had Governor Coolidge been as conversant with business as with politics, he would have noted this necessity and appealed to the legislature for a law that would protect the people; but he didn't and as a result, under his very nose, right in Boston, the supposed home of "law and order," the public is swindled and even the state is victimized in the financial crash. If he failed in foresight let him at least show reasonably good hindsight and urge the legislature in the coming special session to pass a law that will shield the people against financial sharks and get-rid-quick schemes of every description.

THE STATE LOSES

To say the least, the attitude of State Treasurer Burrell in reference to the deposit of $125,000 in the Hanover Trust company, now wrecked by the Ponzi swindle, is not what might be expected of a public official who by mismanagement or lack of plain business sagacity has allowed the state funds to be included in the assets of a bank whose solvency was held in doubt for several weeks before being actually closed.

Treasurer Burrell tries to shift the blame to the state bank commissioner, but for this he has no justification whatever. He tries to make it appear that the bank commissioner should have notified him that the bank was in trouble so that the state deposits might have been withdrawn before the bank was ordered closed.

That claim is ridiculous. Had the bank commissioner privately gone to the state treasurer and given him a tip on the condition of the bank so that the state funds might be withdrawn before the bank was declared insolvent, he would be guilty of malfeasance and could be proceeded against for conspiring to save one depositor at the expense of the others.

Furthermore, if reports are correct, the state treasurer has shown some unwillingness to reveal the various other banks in which state funds are deposited. Even the governor seemed to have difficulty in finding this information, just as if the state treasurer were the proprietor of the funds rather than the public custodian who should stand ready at any time to give an account of the distribution thereof among selected banks.

Shakespeare asks, "What's in a name?" but the name of the state treasurer might be cited to disprove the conclusion of the great dramatist. There is sometimes a great deal in a name and as in this particular case, there is much in the spelling of a name. The republicans of Massachusetts have found out that one of their most serious blunders has resulted from the fact of their having overlooked the insertion of an "e" for an "i" in the name of their candidate for state treasurer.

AID POLAND

The Poles, naturally anxious for the fate of the motherland, appeal to the United States for aid, hoping that the promise of President Wilson to render all available aid will result in something practical being done. Words of sympathy are of no earthly use to Poland at the present time and if aid is to be offered, it should be prompt and effective. The Polish residents of the United States will doubtless do all in their power; but we owe a debt to Poland as we did to France and we should pay it now if ever.

The federal government has taken the necessary steps to have the United States supreme court pass upon the question whether the penalties fixed in the Lever act for profiteering in clothing can be applied to profiteers in cloth before it is made into garments. The question is one of importance, inasmuch as if the decision of the federal courts in the case against President Wood of the American Woolen company, be sustained, one set of profiteers is liable to severe penalties while another equally culpable is entirely immune.

The mill situation is reported as none too encouraging, viz., the demand for new goods does not seem to be brisk as yet; but with the opening of September, the dealers will want their empty shelves replenished. So long as the production lags behind the actual needs of the people, there is no danger of panic or prolonged shut-down.

The taking down of the train shed of the North station, in Boston, recalls that, when the building was being erected, many Bostonians found fault with its architecture, and were informed by the railroad company that the building was intended only for temporary use. "Temporary" in this case has meant 27 years.

Republican spellbinders are making a whole lot of noise pointing to Senator Harding's peace, war, labor and suffrage records, but, when it comes to his stand on prohibition, they are both glum and dumb.

The nine-word will of Dr. Hayes Clement of Philadelphia, written in lead pencil on a scrap of paper and devising an estate valued at $35,000 to his wife, has been admitted to probate, against the protest of his aged mother, who would have inherited $15,000, but who has two daughters living in affluence. The will, written by Dr. Clement the night before his wife went to a hospital for a serious operation, reads: "If Lola lives, I will her all I own."

After a little tea party, the children were playing some game quietly in a corner of the room. The lady of the house was curious to know what was keeping them so interested, so she called her own girl toward her. "What game are you playing, Mollie?" she asked. "Weddings, mother," replied the small girl. "I'm the bride, and Margery Jones is the bridegroom!" "And who is the bridegroom?" asked another, knowing that there was no small boy among the guests. "O," came the quick answer, "this is only a very quiet wedding, you know."

McGraw Refuses

TO BE INTERVIEWED

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—"To ill be interviewed"—this was the message delivered yesterday to federal prohibition enforcement agents who called at the home of John J. McGraw to ask the manager of the New York Giants if it was true he had bought whiskey at the Lambs club, prominent actors' club.

An admission to this effect, alleged to have been made to the district attorney's office in connection with its investigation of how John C. Slavin, actor, received a fracture of the skull in front of McGraw's house a week ago yesterday attracted the attention of James S. Shevlin, chief enforcement official in this city. It was he who despatched the dry agents to the McGraw home, with the threat that if the baseball man did not voluntarily present himself at the federal district attorney's office, a subpoena for his appearance would be sought. The agents reported that they had been unable personally to see McGraw, who is recovering from a blow on the head. This blow, he has told the district attorney's office, was received in a scuffle in the Lambs clubhouse before he left for home with Slavin in a taxi cab the night the actor also was injured.

Slavin's condition yesterday was reported worse and for this reason District Attorney Swann announced he would not present the case to the grand jury for a few days.

Meanwhile dry agents announced

MAN ABOUT TOWN

It might be well to warn Lowell druggists that Attorney-General J. Weston Allen of Massachusetts has given out his opinion that the board of registration in pharmacy can suspend or revoke the permits, certificates, registration or license of any druggist who sells tincture of Jamaica ginger "for purposes of intoxication." That such a sale of Jamaica ginger constitutes a gross violation of the law and that a pharmacist's license may be revoked for such offense, even though there is no actual court conviction.

When a druggist is knowingly selling tincture of Jamaica ginger as a beverage, he is doing so in violation of the Volstead act which, having been passed to enforce the Eighteenth amendment of the federal constitution, is the law of the land. Since Jamaica ginger contains more than 50 per cent. alcohol, it is an intoxicating liquor within the meaning of Section 2 Chapter 100 of the revised laws of this commonwealth, which states that any beverage containing more than 1% alcohol by volume, at 60 degrees Fahrenheit, is intoxicating. Under the provisions of this statute the pharmacy board is no longer required to defer suspension of a license or certificate of regulation until a person violating the law has been found guilty or even until he has violated any law. Uncert, or gross misconduct in the practice of his profession is a sufficient ground for suspension, revocation or cancellation of a druggist's license.

By this opinion the attorney general recognizes that the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act are an integral part of the law of this commonwealth to be observed and enforced by the board of registration in pharmacy to the extent of its authority.

Late Monday afternoon Lowell people had an opportunity to get an idea of what a genuine "yellow day" may be like. The sky, where it was not thickly overcast with clouds, held that mysterious quality of dim orange haze that puzzles the eyes, casts strange shadows, and gives the green of the grass and trees a sickly, unearthly tinge that is somehow suggestive of seasickness. The peculiar atmospheric conditions lasted for an hour or more, and then gradually faded away. While the conditions lasted it is very likely that there were some people in Lowell, whose hair is thinning and growing white, who remembered a famous "yellow day" that came when they were children. President James A. Garfield was shot in a railroad station in Washington on the day preceding the Fourth of July. He was taken to the White House. There through a long, hot summer he hovered between life and death while the whole nation watched anxiously at his bedside. Day after day the doctors issued bulletins in which they speculated about the location of the bullet that was still in the president's body. They did not dare to probe it, and there was no X-ray to tell them where it was. Artificial refrigeration was undeveloped. Many makeshifts were adopted to reduce the heat in the room where the patient lay at the point of death all through the long summer. Then, early in September, the announcement was made that the president was to be taken to Long Branch. It was realized that it was to be a crucial experience. The people of the whole country almost held their breaths as they waited for the outcome of the journey. On the day on which the trip was made the earth was enveloped in the unnatural haze of a "yellow day." Superstitious people, and some who were not superstitious, believed the end of the world was at hand. That day is recalled as "yellow Tuesday."

They would make another attempt to interview McGraw on the liquor angle, which, if true, will result in investigation of the Lambs, according to Mr. Shevlin.

VICTORY MEDALS FOR LOWELL SERVICE MEN

According to Eli B. Hart, secretary of the local post of the American Legion who has been designated as the one in charge of the distribution of Victory medals in this city, already 250 applications for the medals have been filled out. The medal is cast in bronze about the size of a half-dollar and bears an image of Liberty on its face, with the United States shield and the names of the victorious allies on the obverse. The ribbon is of rainbow hue and bears across its face bars of bronze, one for every engagement in which the soldier, sailor or marine participated. The medals will be given to all men who participated on either side of the war.

LLOYD GEORGE WOULD MEET IRISH DELEGATES

LONDON, Aug. 17.—In reply to a question in the house of commons yesterday Premier Lloyd George again announced the willingness of the government to discuss with any representatives of Irish opinion any proposals for a settlement.

The premier said such discussion would be subject to three conditions, as follows:

First, that the six counties of Northern Ulster must be treated separately; second, that there must be no secession directly or indirectly on any part of Ireland from the United Kingdom; and third, "We cannot agree to anything that would involve any detraction from the security of these islands or of their safety in case of war."

The Sinn Feiners would not be ruled out if they were prepared to accept these conditions, Premier Lloyd George said.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

ABOUT TONY TURTLE

Tingaling and the twins were sitting which nearly sent them all into the on an island on Ripple Creek, and the water. fairman was talking.

"Before we go to Tony Turtle's house to collect his rent," said he to the children, "I wish to give you some good advice."

"To take perfume along?" asked

Tingaling looked so surprised he couldn't speak for a minute, and he picked up his hat, which had fallen off. Then all at once a most understanding expression came over his face, and he peeped down at the children to see

SUDDENLY THE ISLAND THEY WERE SITTING ON GAVE A SHIVER WHICH NEARLY SENT THEM ALL INTO THE WATER

Nancy, "like we did to Snoopy Skunk's house."

"Good lands, no—I mean, good waters, no!" exclaimed the fairy. "Tony is as clean as the inside of an orange peel. It's about his looks, I mean. He'd never do in the movies."

"Why?" asked Nick. It did seem as though the children never would get done asking questions.

"Why?" repeated Tingaling. "You'll know why when you see a creature with a body like a turned-over butter bowl, a beak like a Pull-parrot's, a neck like a piece of bologna sausage, and a tall about as handsome as a string bean, to say nothing at all about his hands and feet."

Suddenly the island they were sitting on gave a shiver and a shake,

how they were taking it.

"St. st. st." he whispered, laying his finger aside his nose and looking significantly down at the island which had nearly upset them. Nancy and Nick looked, too, and to their amazement discovered that instead of earth or sand or rock they were sitting on a turtle shell exactly the shape of an upturned butter-bowl!

"Oh!" they exclaimed softly. "It's Tony Turtle, isn't it, Mr. Tingaling? Do you suppose he heard what you said?"

The fairman turned very red, for he was wondering, too! He knew exactly what that Pull parrot beak could do if it got mad. Besides he didn't want a duking.

OPERATORS AND MINERS FAIL TO AGREE

CLEVELAND, O. Aug. 17.—Members of the joint scale committee of the central competitive bituminous coal field were deadlocked last night after the operators had refused the miners' demands for increased wages and the miners in turn had rejected a counter-proposal of the operators and a joint sub-committee, appointed to consider the situation, adjourned after a three-hour session without reaching an agreement.

The miners on Saturday presented a demand for a $2 a day increase for day and month laborers and a 10 per cent. a ton increase for pick and machine mining.

In their reply yesterday the operators offered to award the seeming inequality of the award of the bituminous coal commission last March, under which the pick mining rate was advanced 27 per cent. over the then existing contract, and the day and monthly men were given an advance of only 25 per cent. by advancing the wages of the day and monthly men to the equivalent of the pick miners' advance. The operators, however, refused to consider any other demands made by the miners, including the 10 per cent. per ton asked for pick and machine mining.

On receipt of the operators' proposal, the miners promptly rejected it and a sub-committee of the joint scale committee was appointed to try and reach a settlement.

After adjournment last night members of the sub-committee said there was little to indicate any immediate settlement of the matter.

It became known yesterday that the federal government is watching the meeting here, a local representative of the department of justice admitting that he was watching the conference developments regarding the possibility of any strike action by the miners.

501,000,000 COINS TURNED OUT BY PHILADELPHIA MINT IN LAST FISCAL YEAR

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—The Philadelphia mint turned out 501,000,000 coins in the last fiscal year.

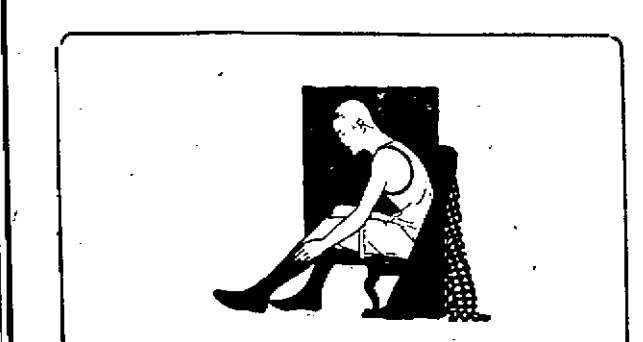

Raymond T. Baker, director of the United States mint, gave out the figures after inspecting the institution. New die-cutting machines, electric furnaces and carrying devices have been installed within the last year and efficiency methods have been adopted which greatly increase the output of the mint.

The increase last year was about 25 per cent. over 1919. In 1916 a little over a million coins were produced.

Mr. Baker recently returned from San Francisco mint where he is preparing to install improved machinery similar to that in the Philadelphia mint.

"With the recent additions," said Mr. Baker, the Philadelphia mint is now not only the largest mint in this country but manufactures a larger number of coins than any other mint in the world."

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Adv.

Wrangel Has 150,000 Troops

SEBASTOPOLE, Aug. 13. (By Associated Press.)—The military forces of General Wrangel, head of the anti-Bolshevik government in South Russia, now aggregate about 150,000 men, one-third of whom are high-class troops. Russian officers estimate that the Bolshevik forces arrayed against General Wrangel now number about 50,000. Their estimates are that the soviets have some 300,000 troops on the Polish front, and 100,000 reserves available elsewhere.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Warsaw is still being held by the Poles so far as despatches received here disclose the situation. The latest soviet Russian communique does not claim the city is captured, while the Polish official statement of Monday represented the defenders of the Polish capital making successful resistance.

All special advices, none of which however is dated later than Sunday concur in the statement that Warsaw was then held by the Poles, who, according to some of these reports, were fighting so successfully that the message to the city was decreasing.

In the meantime, the Russian armies are rapidly progressing through the Polish corridor, and are said to be within 50 miles of Danzig.

Nothing is known of the peace negotiations at Minsk beyond the statement made by Earl Curzon, secretary of state for foreign affairs, in the house of lords yesterday, in which he said that it was known that peace conversations were proceeding.

HORRORS! A SHARK

Man-Eater to Be Shown at Lakeview This Week

Last night's Sun told the story of the capture of an 11 foot mackerel shark off Nahant, Sunday. For several hours the sight of the shark struck terror to the bathers, especially the women and children. The shark finally went into Lynn harbor with the tide and was captured after a fierce battle.

It is believed that this same shark had been haunting the waters near Nahant for two or three days.

Through the enterprise of Mr. Edward J. Gurnish, who conducts the boat house at Willow Dale entrance, this shark will be on exhibition at his boat house tomorrow and Thursday of this week. Those who have never seen a man-eating shark will have the opportunity to see one right here on the shores of Lake Massapequa.

RETURNS FROM THE WEST

Lowell Business Man Relates Incidents of Splendid Trip to Pacific Coast

"There is more beauty in one square mile of New England territory than in whole states in the west," said Albert E. O'Hair to a Sun reporter this morning. Mr. O'Hair has recently returned from a seven-weeks' trip across the continent to the Pacific coast. He was accompanied by members of his family.

The trip was made to California by way of Chicago, Denver and Ogden, Utah. The return journey was via the Santa Fe through the Grand Canyon, New Mexico and Kansas.

"The long reaches of sage brush of the west are not interesting," said Mr. O'Hair. "You wonder how the people have built up such a vast empire of prosperity out of such apparently unpromising material. But everywhere you go you find evidences of state pride on the part of the people. There are no 'knockers' out there, such as we have in the east. Everybody is a 'booster' and he is 'boosting' his native village, city or state all the time."

"Boosters" of Venice Beach

"In Los Angeles every other person you meet tells you that you must be sure to visit Venice beach. They harp on what a wonderful place it is. You come to the conclusion that it must be something quite out of the ordinary. The name 'Venice' sounds alluring. Then you go out to the beach and find that Nantasket has it beaten to a frazzle for beauty and natural attractions.

Los Angeles is a wonderful city. It is forging ahead in population and it looks as though it might, before a great many years, overtake and pass San Francisco. New people are flowing into town to take up their residence all the time. It is said that only five per cent. of the population of Los Angeles was born in the city.

"I was told that Los Angeles is not a good place for laboring people to go to. A considerable part of the people who are now there have funds sufficient to live in comfort and many of them are willing to take jobs merely to have an occupation of some sort or to add a little to their incomes."

"An interesting feature of California industry is the way in which different sections of the country are given up to different crops. One large section raises beans exclusively; another section apricots; another plums, for instance. In the fruit industry the marketing is done co-operatively with great success.

Booming Oil Industry

"In many places in California are evidences of the great interest that is being taken in the production of oil. Wells can be seen sandwiched in on open lots between the finest residences. At one place I saw wells that had been sunk through the bottom of the ocean and out of which oil was being pumped.

"The cost of living in the west is far below what it is in the east. At Los Angeles we had a breakfast of fruit, cereal and cream, good beefsteak, potatoes, rolls and coffee, and all for 50 cents.

"The weather at San Francisco was so cool that we needed our overcoats morning and evening.

"An impressive feature of parts of the west is what has been accomplished as the result of irrigation. Everywhere in these sections is boasting and talking about the wonders to come that new irrigation projects are to bring about. A mighty plan is being developed for damming the Colorado river and irrigating thousands of acres.

"Utah is provided with great deposits of coal and progress is being made toward getting it out of the ground for consumption. As you ride along the railroad you will see small narrow gauge lines running off to coal mines in the mountains.

Summer-Spoiled Skin

Removed by Absorption

As undue summer exposure usually leaves an undesirable surface of tan, redness or roughness, often irremediable, the sensible thing to do is to remove such surface. There's nothing better for this than ordinary mercolized wax, which actually absorbs an unwholesome complexion. The thin layer of surface skin is itself absorbed gently, gradually so there's no inconvenience, no detention indoors. Spread the wax lightly over the entire face at bedtime and take it off in the morning with warm water. If you will get one ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store, use it for a week or so, you may expect marked improvement daily. When the underlying skin is wholly in view your complexion will be a marvel of spotless purity and beautiful whiteness.

Don't let those summer wrinkles worry; worry breeds more wrinkles. Banish them by bathing the face in a solution of powdered sassailla, one or dissolved in a half pint which hazel. Used daily for a while this will be found wonderfully effective.—Adv.

Lack of Phosphate in Blood and Nerve Cells Age Many People Before Their Time—Is Current Report.

The people who stand up and laugh at hot, sultry weather are the ones who have plenty of phosphorus in their systems.

If you are weak, become played out early on a hot day; if you become irritated easily, lose your patience and cannot concentrate your mind on difficult problems, then you need Picro-Phosphate, a pure organic phosphate that feeds your starving nerves just the food they need.

It is a simple matter that all modern physicians understand. If you, man or woman, desire a sturdy, virile body with an abundance of nerve force and endurance—if you want a keen, active mind that won't tire under severe strain, then you must have plenty of phosphorus in blood, nerve and bone cells and a pure organic phosphate known at druggists as Picro-Phosphate is just what you need.

NO CAUSE FOR FIRE HOUSE KICKS

W. N. Goodell Says New Building Will Not be Objectionable

Location is That Recommended by New England Fire Exchange Engineers

The Lowell chamber of commerce made recommendations as to the location of a new firehouse in the Highlands only after months of study and on information furnished by expert authorities. President William N. Goodell of the chamber said yesterday, discussing the charge made, or the belief held in some quarters, that the proposition to locate the new house at Pine and Stevens streets was the result of only snap judgment.

It will be recalled that Commissioner John F. Salmon, head of the department of water works and fire protection, announced a few days ago that the Westford street house was to be sold and the receipts to be used toward building a bungalow type of house at Pine and Stevens streets.

Objection by Abutters

Since then, there has been manifest some objection to the proposed location by abutters of the site and the impression has gained around that enough study had not been given the matter.

The chamber of commerce has been active in studying the fire hazard situation in Lowell for many months in an effort to get a lower rate of fire insurance here through better protective equipment.

"We have gone into this matter," said Pres. Goodell yesterday, "not primarily because there have been several disastrous fires in the Highlands, but for the main purpose of reducing fire insurance rates in this city. Lowell is now 11th in the fourth class with regard to fire protection when she should be in the third class. If we can succeed in getting the department in such a state of efficiency that the city can move into the third class it will mean an eight per cent. reduction in fire insurance rates here."

Recommended by Exchange

"That has been our primary object in going into the matter. The location of houses, etc., is merely incidental. We haven't recommended the location of the new house in the Highlands at the corner of Pine and Stevens streets merely on our own judgment. It has been recommended by the New England Fire Exchange through one of their officers, J. S. Caldwell. We have also the backing of the National Board of Fire Underwriters."

"These people have studied the Highlands situation from a purely impersonal, technical standpoint. They are engineers and know their business. The chamber of commerce merely acted as an agent to get their advice on the matter. The site in Stevens street is their recommendation, not ours. I suppose that no matter where the new house is located, those living near it will object. That's only natural, but I fear a lot of it is due to misconception of the kind of house it is proposed to erect there."

No Disagreeable Features

"The new house will not be the old-fashioned fire house with horse, stable and disagreeable odors. The bungalow type is only a single story high and a piece of motor-driven apparatus will be placed there. There will be no stamping of horses' feet and other disagreeable features of the old-style firehouse."

"But what I want to emphasize is the fact that the chamber of commerce has made its recommendations in the matter purely to give that section of the city the type of protection considered most feasible and efficient by experts. If they are wrong, then we are wrong, but they ought to know their business."

HEAVY GUARD SAVES ALLEGED MURDERER

ST. CATHERINES, Ont., Aug. 17.—Angry townsfolk besieged the little town hall at Thorold yesterday, while David McNeal, ex-Canadian service man, was committed for trial charged with the murder of 4-year-old Margaret Boucock, whose mutilated body was found in the nearby woods two weeks ago.

Men and women surged about the railroad station waiting for McNeal to arrive from Welland earlier in the day. He was rushed to the hall under heavy guard from 200 yards down the tracks to save his life.

In the court room, when McNeal appeared, there was a rush, women joining with men in efforts to attack him. Only the most vigorous action by his guards held them off. He was struck several times in the fighting.

Late yesterday afternoon, McNeal still was in the town hall, awaiting favorable opportunity to dash for a train with his guards and get back to the sanctuary of the Welland Jail, pending trial.

Searching parties have scoured the countryside looking for 6-year-old Kathleen Breechman, who disappeared with the little Boucock girl more than a month ago.

Shave With Cuticura Soap The New Way Without Mug

ST. CATHERINES, Ont., Aug. 17.—Marlin Maloney, Philadelphia millionaire and one of the most prominent laymen of the Catholic church in America, whose magnificent summer home here was robbed late Friday night while four members of the family, six servants and two guests, Cardinal Gibbons and Bishop O'Connell of Richmond, were in the house, admits that the circumstances were such it was hard to understand how the burglars could have entered the house without assistance from the inside.

Mr. Maloney, who made his wealth in oil and gas, has enjoyed many honors because of his good work for the church. He is a papal marquis, the title having been conferred upon him by the Vatican. Cardinal Gibbons and Bishop O'Connell have been frequent visitors at his homes here and in Philadelphia.

"It is a complete mystery how the burglars were able to get into the house," said Mr. Maloney. "I know it is hard to believe they could have entered without inside help, yet I cannot believe that any one inside the house was implicated. I have the utmost confidence in the servants. All six are old employees, except the butler, who came to us from the club at Lakewood two months ago with the highest recommendations. He has a fine reputation and many families wanted his services. We consider ourselves lucky in getting him."

"I believe him entirely innocent, like the rest of the servants. His attitude convinces me of his honesty. He appears to be heartbroken at the thought that suspicion might be directed against him."

Mr. Maloney denied reports current about the village that the burglars stole personal property of Cardinal Gibbons, gifts presented to Mr. Maloney by the pope and other dignitaries of the church or any jewelry, and that the total value of the loot was $100,000. What was taken was solid silver, worth about $10,000. It was insured.

11-YEAR-OLD GIRL DROWNS IN POND

NORWOOD, Aug. 17.—Annie Broderick, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Broderick of Hyde Park, who formerly lived in Norwood, lost her life while bathing in Willett pond yesterday. The little girl had been visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Broderick of 9 East Hoyle street since Friday.

Shortly after dinner, with Annie alone of 550 Washington street, the Broderick girl went to the pond, where there were a number of persons bathing. Sometime later her companions missed her and Life Guard John Sullivan was notified. Sullivan, John Ward and another life guard, and several boys began a search, and finally Alfred Pearson stepped on the body in about four feet of water and just beyond the life line.

Dr. T. H. O'Toole attempted to revive the child with the assistance of Dr. Barrens of Philadelphia, who was bathing when the accident occurred. In response to telephone calls Dedham firemen brought a lung motor, and the George H. Morrill Co. of Norwood furnished a pulmotor and oxygen tank.

For nearly two hours the men worked over the body before Dr. O'Toole pronounced the girl dead. He said that there was no water in the little girl's lungs, but that there was evidence that she had eaten a heavy dinner and it is felt by some that death might have been due to some other cause than drowning. Medical Examiner John V. Pratt of Dedham viewed the body.

Annie Broderick was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Broderick of Riverside square, Hyde Park. She was the fifth oldest child. Her father is a clerk in the Hyde Park postoffice. The child was a student in St. Rachel's parochial school, Hyde Park.

Dr. T. H. O'Toole attempted to revive the child with the assistance of Dr. Barrens of Philadelphia, who was bathing when the accident occurred. In response to telephone calls Dedham firemen brought a lung motor, and the George H. Morrill Co. of Norwood furnished a pulmotor and oxygen tank.

MANNIX TO GO TO IRELAND

Archbishop Declares He Will Visit Country as a Free Citizen

Denounces Lloyd George's Proposal to Bring Aged Mother to London

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Proposals by Premier Lloyd George in the house of commons yesterday that every facility would be given the mother of Archbishop Mannix to come to London from Ireland to visit her son, were denounced as "preposterous" by the prelate in an interview with the Daily Mail. The archbishop said his mother could not possibly travel, owing to her great age, no matter how much assistance should be given her. He also denied having said he wished to go to Ireland for personal reasons. "I'll go to Ireland," he declared, "and it will be with all the freedom of a free citizen."

The prelate denied rumors that he had been summoned to Rome and said he adhered to his original intention to go to Rome about Christmas time.

HISTORIC BIG GUN UNIT AFTER RECRUITS

The 42nd U. S. Artillery (C.A.C. railroad), is now stationed at Camp Devens with the assignment of the entire New England district as its recruiting field. The history of the artillery regiment is intensely interesting and can be traced back to the period of the American revolution. A special endeavor is being made by the local army recruiting station to enlist men for duty with this historic unit who would be assigned to recruiting duty in New England for some time to come. The base camp of this branch is at Camp Eustis, Virginia, to which it will return after its recruiting tour.

The early artillery companies of which the present are the descendants fought in the War of 1812, in the Florida war, in the Mexican war, in the Civil war and since then in several other campaigns and expeditions. The service of the artillery is written in golden letters on the pages of American history.

In August, 1917, a regiment was organized at Fort Adams, Rhode Island, from some of the old regular coast artillery organizations. This regiment was called the 7th provisional regiment and was assigned to the first expeditionary brigade, coast artillery. The 7th Provisional regiment arrived in France in September, 1917. In February, 1918, its designation was changed to the 52nd artillery, C.A.C. On the 7th of August, batteries 1, K, L and M of the 52nd Artillery, C.A.C., were formed into batteries A, B, C, D, E, and F, respectively, of the 42nd Artillery, C.A.C. In February, 1918 a provisional battalion, composed of two batteries of the 52nd and two of the 53rd, went on the firing line. Three of these batteries are now batteries C, D, and E of the 42nd Artillery. Battery E fired the first shot of the coast artillery in the world war on February 13, 1918. Corporal Bruska of this battery pulled the lanyard and received a letter of commendation from the chief of the coast artillery.

The shot was fired from a 32 cm. (about 13 inches) French railroad gun, at Somme Suippe on the Butte de Meunil line. The regiment actively participated in engagements in the following sectors: La Chapelle sous Rougemont, Dans Marie, Somme Suippe, Butte de Meunil, St. Mihiel, Bois de Champagne, Forêt de St. Paul, Camp de Nantivy, Demarin-sur-Hans and Champaing Marne defensive.

Batteries E and F on July 4, 1918, participated in the enemy offensive at Bois Sabot and Epis de la Justice, respectively. Battery E received an army citation from General Petain, and the regimental color was decorated with a Croix de Guerre with one branch of laurels in the Cour St. Andre at Nantivy by Lieutenant General Legare of the French army. Two officers and 13 men also were decorated with the French war cross. Later on three enlisted men were presented with the distinguished service cross.

On February 2, 1919, two of the batteries formed an escort of honor for Gen. John J. Pershing, who inspected the entire command on that date. On the 18th of the same month the "Kronprinz" bearing the 42nd Artillery, docked at Newport News, Va., just 18 months after the 7th Provisional regiment, C.A.C., had embarked on its quest for unknown honors across the seas.

Camp Eustis is the home of the railroad artillery, being the only one in the United States where the artillery can fire at long range at moving naval targets on the water. Its 8000 acres are on a peninsula bounded by the James and Warwick rivers.

Any young men interested in this unit can see the sergeant in charge of the local army recruiting station or go directly to the commander's office at Camp Devens.

Eczema Caused Years of Intense Agony

"I have suffered intense agony from eczema on my leg and other parts of my body for years, and received only temporary relief from other preparations. It is only a month since I started to use PETERSON'S OINTMENT, and there is no sign of eczema or itching. You can refer to me, Geo. C. Talbot, 27 Penfield street, Buffalo, N. Y."

"I've got a hundred testimonials," says Peterson of Buffalo, "just as sincere and honest as this one. Years ago, when I first started to put out my mind to give a big box for 35 cents, and I am still doing it, as every druggist in the country knows."

"I guarantee PETERSON'S OINTMENT because I know that its mighty healing power is marvelous. I say to every one who buys a box that it is rigidly guaranteed for eczema, salt rheum, old sores, blind, bleeding and itching piles, ulcers, skin diseases, chafing, burns, scalds and sunburn, and if not thoroughly cured, any druggist will return your money." Mail order filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

DOES YOUR BACK ACHE?

If you are troubled with back aches, it is a bet that they are caused by weak kidneys; they don't perform their duties, and you should look out, as there is trouble brewing.

When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, headache, dizzy spells, and it is more than likely to bring on rheumatism.

The urine is often cloudy, full of sediment, your sleep disturbed by being compelled to arise, one or more times during the night, because of the pain, irritation and abnormal condition of the kidneys and bladder.

If you will take from 10 to 20 drops of SEVEN BARKS in a little water after meals, you will correct the alkalinity of your secretions, thus giving you undisturbed sleep and peaceful rest, preparing you for your next day's duties.

When the kidneys are not doing their duty they allow impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which will cause serious trouble unless they are driven from your system.

If you eat meat regularly, you should flush the kidneys occasionally with SEVEN BARKS, as meat forms uric acid which clogs the pores, so they can not throw off the poisons.

Don't neglect your kidney trouble with the first symptoms, you will be sorry if you do. Get SEVEN BARKS, your druggist, at a cost of only 50 cents.

GIANT SHIP COMBINE

Contract of N. Y. Company With Hamburg-American Line Approved.

WASHINGTON, August 17.—The formation of a gigantic steamship combine composed of the Harbman steamship lines, including the American Ship and Commerce corporation, the United American Lines, Inc., and the Hamburg-American line, was announced yesterday by Chairman Benson of the shipping board.

In his summary of the agreements the chairman declared that "the shipping board would look forward to seeing one of its constructive plans carried out."

"There is no German money in the American end of the business in any place, nor is there any agreement expressed or implied for German investment in any of the American companies," he added.

The arrangement is for 20 years and consists, the chairman said, of a general agreement covering the principles to be followed by the two companies and an operating agreement covering the methods of carrying out the plan.

In general, it provides that each party may participate with an equal amount of tonnage in such passenger and freight services as shall be established which will include between the United States and Germany and ports of the world other than the United States. Pier facilities, ports and office organizations of both companies are placed at the disposal of the service.

The American Ship and Commerce Corporation will act as agent for the Hamburg-American line in United States ports and the German company as agent for the American company in German ports, but each company may establish offices in the country of the other to supervise the activities there. Each company is to appoint its own agents outside of Germany and the United States.

May Transfer Service

The Hamburg-American line may transfer any service to any other German company for execution and the American corporation may transfer service to any American company, but both parties remain responsible for the carrying out of the service.

In the event of war between the United States and Germany, provision is made for termination of the agreement and also to cover the contingency of war between either the United States and other powers than Germany or Germany and other powers than the United States. Settlement of disputes between the two companies by arbitration is provided for, as is revision of the contract in the event the laws of either country should require.

Passenger service between the United States and Germany is to be established within one year, the American corporation agreeing to supply passenger ships not exceeding 40,000 gross tons, to which the Hamburg-American line cannot add unless it is agreed that the business warrants an addition. In that case, the German company may add ships until it has 50 per cent. of the vessels in the service.

In the design and construction of passenger ships, the Hamburg-American line will give the American corporation all the technical knowledge and experience at its disposal.

Details of Agreement

If the American concern chooses to enter a given service, each party may put in one-half of the tonnage required. The American Ship and Commerce corporation may suggest that any service be proposed if the proposition is not made by the Hamburg-American line.

Because certain ships amounting to about 185,000 tons were ordered prior to the agreement, the Hamburg-American line reserves the right within one year's notice to insert these vessels, when ready, in the freight service established within its proportion of 50 per cent.

Withdrawal of tonnage in the event of over-tonnage is provided for and for the withdrawal of tonnage because of operation at a loss or at no profit. Provision is also made for the withdrawal of either party from a service not to its interest, but the party withdrawing may not enter if the other party carries the burden of building up the service. If both parties withdraw, the service may be re-established as originally.

To Build Merchant Marine

"The shipping board will now look forward to seeing one of its constructive plans, carried out by an American group having initiative, resource and courage, who plan to make American shipping their life's work and have expressed their desire and intention to help the rebuilding of these trades," Chairman Benson said.

Reviewing the negotiations leading up to the agreement, the chairman said that more than a year ago, the shipping board concluded that the pre-war facilities, experience and good will of the Hamburg-American line, which before 1914 "was the premier steamship company of the world," could be utilized for the general advantage of the American merchant marine.

Arrangements were made, he continued, for W. G. Sickel, then representing the Hamburg-American line in this country, to visit Germany to investigate the proposition. Upon Sickel's report, a draft of a contract was prepared between the shipping board and the Hamburg-American line with the idea of reopening some of the trade routes formerly operated by the Hamburg interests, but in a purely American way.

BABIES NEED WATCHFUL CARE IN HOT WEATHER

Unless the parents of Lowell babies exert the utmost care during the present heated period, the infant mortality rate of the city for the next few weeks will mount very high, according to Agent Francis J. O'Hare of the board of health.

Agent O'Hare suggests that the board of health office be notified as soon as a baby develops intestinal trouble as a result of the heat so that one of the child welfare nurses, of the department may be sent to look after the child and make recommendations before the illness reaches a serious stage of development.

"We have nurses here," Mr. O'Hare said this morning, "who could tide over a baby's illness until a doctor could be called if we were notified promptly. Ordinarily, the nurses devote their time to keeping well babies well in addition to looking after cases of illness which come to their attention, but in this warm weather the health department is ready to have them give all their time to sick babies."

"We want to know about illness among infants as soon as it develops so that immediate steps may be taken to prevent it from becoming serious. Very often parents are prone to think that slight illness in a child will not amount to anything and are inclined to let the matter go without calling either a nurse or a doctor. In warm weather, however, even the slightest illness in an infant is liable to become serious unless immediate medical attention is given."

"For that reason our child welfare nurses will concentrate all their efforts during the warm weather to looking after sick children. Unless we have the co-operation of parents, our infant mortality rate for the next few weeks is going to be exceptionally high."

The board of health telephone number is 549 and the service of the nurses is free.

ROOSEVELT RAPS G. O. P. LEADERS IN NO. DAKOTA

FARGO, N. D., Aug. 17.—In his first address in North Dakota, Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic candidate for vice-president, declared here yesterday that the democratic party, if elected, pledges itself to "seek a solution of the problems that will serve the best interests of the producer and the great consuming public."

"I am particularly glad to read that the 'poor' campaign of the republicans is breaking down," Mr. Roosevelt said, "and that Senator Harding has now condescended to make five whole speeches away from home."

"The theory of the democratic campaign is, of course, just the contrary. Our candidates are trying not merely to carry the campaign to the country but to find out what the country is thinking."

"This difference in attitude of mind extends to the way in which the leaders of the two parties handle all public questions. The democratic theory is that big national problems ought to be settled from a national point of view, and ought not to be undertaken by a mere gathering in Washington of half a dozen old line leaders who do not know the country and who represent the kind of things that Penrose of Pennsylvania, Lodge of Massachusetts, Root of New York and others of that group advocate, who were in control of the Chicago convention and who would be in control of your government if a republican president is elected."

Tennessee Suffrage Session!

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Here is the first photograph of the Tennessee house of representatives in the special suffrage session, which will become historic if the house ratifies the suffrage amendment, as expected. This will complete ratification, giving the women of the entire nation the vote this fall. On the left is a closeup of Speaker Seth M. Walker of the house (also indicated by arrow in large photo), snapped as he was presiding over the suffrage session. Right, Speaker A. L. Todd of Tennessee senate, caught by the camera, gavel in hand, at the upper body's special session. The senate passed the ratification measure by the overwhelming vote of 25 to 4, and sent it on to the house for action.

To Vote Today

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 17.—The lower house of the Tennessee legislature will vote today on ratification of the federal suffrage amendment, both suffrage and opposition leaders announced last night.

The committee in charge of the ratification resolution held an executive session last night and Chairman Riddick planned to report the measure in the regular order of business today, probably within half an hour of the opening of the session at 10.30 o'clock. Conflicting claims as to result of the vote were made last night. Seth Walker, speaker and leader of the opposition, said the amendment would be rejected.

"We have ratification beaten, that is all there is to it," he declared.

Suffrage leaders still were confident they would win. They have claimed a majority in the house since the legislative session began and said if members stood by their pledges, victory was certain.

Both suffrage and opposition workers last night confirmed reports that five of the seven members of the Davidson county (Nashville) delegation, pledged to suffrage, had gone over to the opposition.

Scenes Recall Civil War Days

RALEIGH, N. C., August 17.—Amid scenes which the state house has not witnessed possibly since the days of the Civil war, the North Carolina legislature began consideration today of ratification of the federal woman suffrage amendment.

The flag-bedecked galleries, set aside for the suffragists, broke into prolonged cheering when the senate clerk began reading the ratification resolution. It was renewed when Senator Carr was recognized and rose to speak. Senator Carr said he had been told it meant his political death to support ratification and then, sounding the call to Democrats, he continued: "But I shall vote for it. I think, all of us who favor this proposition should stand by our convictions to the point where we are willing to lay down our political lives for it. We will, at least, have done our duty by our party, state, and nation. We will have kept the faith to our American women."

Warsaw, Aug. 17, a. m. (By Associated Press) The Russian pressure upon Warsaw has been relieved, according to the official Polish communication just issued. The statement reported that General Pilsudski directed the counter stroke that effected this relief.

The statement says the Bolsheviks who had planned to cross the Vistula southeast of Warsaw in the region of Maciejowice (35 miles from the capital) were forced back.

The ring wing of the fourth Polish army, in breaking the Soviet resistance at Kock (32 miles south of Siedlce) took 200 Russians prisoner, and captured some cannon and 14 machine guns.

U. S. PROPOSAL TO MEXICO

Colby Note Said to Agree to Recognition if Terms Are Accepted

North American Lives and Property Must Be Respected—Indemnities Demanded

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 17.—(By Associated Press)—President Wilson is ready to recognize the present Mexican government, if the latter agrees with the terms set forth in a proposal from Secretary of State Colby on this subject, according to a message sent to President De la Huerta from Fernando Calderon, Mexican high commissioner to the United States, now in the American capital, says the Excelsior today.

Secretary Colby's proposition, according to the newspaper, was:

First, that North American lives and property be respected.

Second, that indemnities be paid foreigners who suffered during the revolution.

Third, that the Carranza decrees which are found to be confiscatory be derogated.

State Department's Comment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The three proposals given in Mexico City dispatches as precedent to recognition of the present Mexican government by the United States are "only a few of the conditions announced by this government," according to a state department official. It is true that the three conditions—respect for American lives and property, indemnities to be paid foreigners who suffered during the revolution and derogation of the confiscatory decrees of Carranza—are among the conditions laid down, but "performance of duties instead of mere promises," is put above all conditions, it was said.

Recognition has not been promised Mexico under any conditions, it was authoritatively stated.

Olympic Record Broken by American

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Antwerp, Aug. 17.—R. W. Landon of the New York, A. C., won the final in the high jump, of the Olympic games here today, and in so doing established a new Olympic record. Landon's jump was 1.94 metres. The former Olympic record was 1.93 metres.

Ekelund, of Sweden, and H. B. Muller of the Olympic club, San Francisco, were tied for second place at 1.90 metres.

John Murphy, of the Multnomah A. C., of Portland, Ore., Walter Whalen of the Boston A. C., and B. Howard Baker of Great Britain, were tied for fourth place, with jumps of 1.85 metres.

"The Star Spangled Banner"

Muller and Ekelund tried hard to better Landon's jump, but failed.

Just as Landon's victory was announced and the band was playing "The Star Spangled Banner" Albert, king of the Belgians, entered the stand and stood at salute until the anthem was ended. The king flew over from Brussels by airplane. Three hundred American Boy Scouts here on their way home gave King Albert a special cheer.

Landon's jump of 1.94 metres is the equivalent of about six feet 2 1/2 inches. The world's record for this jump is six feet, 7 1/2 inches, made by Eberson at Berkeley on May 2, 1914. The Olympic record of 1.93 metres was made by A. W. Richards, U.S.A., in Stockholm in 1912.

All Americans Win Heats

All four American entrants in the 110 metre hurdles event of the seventh Olympics won their heats in the field of 26 starters today. H. E. Barron of the Meadowbrook club, Philadelphia.

ANTWERP, Aug. 17.—In the first round of the tug of war the British team defeated their American opponents. The Americans had little chance against the Britishers, being out-tugged in the first contest to 132-3 seconds and in the second in 30 seconds. In the second match of this round Holland defeated Italy.

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Antwerp, Aug. 17.—(By Associated Press)—Victory in the final heat of the 300 metre run today went to Great Britain. A. G. Hill of the British team finishing first ahead of Earl Eby of the Chicago A.A. the second man.

Chamber of Commerce Head

Sees No Evidences of Business Depression

"The industrial outlook in Lowell is promising," said President W. N. Goodell of the chamber of commerce, this morning, in his daily conference with a Sun reporter at which a representative of Lord & Thomas, one of the largest retail distributors of department store merchandise in the country, was present. The Lord & Thomas representative is engaged in making a survey of business conditions in the eastern section of the country.

Mr. Goodell's attention was called to the fact that the automobile industry seemed to be in danger of having a slump, and it was suggested that this might affect the manufacture of tire fabrics in this city.

"Lowell can lose its tire fabric business," said Mr. Goodell, "without suffering. It will still have its standard lines of manufactured goods for which there is always a call. The mills are doubtless glad to get all

SHOT AFTER 2
STORY PLUNGE

Girl Jumped to Escape Suitor

—Fell on Fence—Shot While Crawling Away

Posse Immediately Formed to Run Down Murderer—To Use Bloodhounds

LYNDHURST, N. J., August 17.—Jumping from a second story window to escape a rejected suitor, Mary Velluto, 19-year-old Italian beauty, today fell on a picket fence and while crawling away to hide in an abandoned well, was shot and killed by him.

The suitor, according to the police, is Pasquale Melone of Syracuse, N. Y., a traveling salesman. A posse was immediately organized to track down the girl's assailant, who is believed to be hiding in a swamp bordering the Passaic river. Preparations were made to obtain bloodhounds for the chase.

More Police Protection at City Bath House

An additional police officer will be stationed at the municipal bath house and swimming pool off the Pawtucket boulevard at once as a result of a conference held in the mayor's office at city hall this morning at which were present Mayor Thompson, Harvey B. Greene of the park commission and Supt. John W. Kernan of the Park department.

Messrs. Greene and Kernan informed the mayor that a number of complaints had been received relative to the conduct of a certain hoodlum element accustomed to visit the bath house and making things disagreeable for other patrons. Officer Lynch, who is now stationed there, is doing excellent work, the park department officials said, but there is need of an additional officer.

The mayor promised to make arrangements to have a second officer on the job to assist in maintaining order.

TO REORGANIZE BUREAU OF IMMIGRATION

AMUSEMENT NOTES
MERRIMACK SQUARE
The charm of Blanche Sweet's personality literally floods every scene of "Simple Souls" (the Jesse D. Hammons production which opened a three days' engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre yesterday. It is based on the popular novel by John Hastings Turner and made a strong appeal to the large audiences present at both performances.
Miss Sweet is cast in a role which requires a full complement of histrionic abilities. From the sweet simplicity of an unsophisticated girl to the quick wrath and fear of a woman scorned, she is admirable.
Briefly, the story is that of a poor, discouraged shop girl who dreams of happiness but sees no chance of getting it. Sitting disconsolately in a park, she arouses the sympathy of a duke who makes a chance acquaintance and later regularly sends her books of which she is very fond. This brings her into disrepute with her mother. The duke learns of the situation and marries her, but snobbish relatives endeavor to break up the couple. The girl weathers a series of difficult situations and finally wins out.
Supporting Miss Sweet are Charles Meredith, Herbert Standing, Kate Lester and other favorites. The picture is of the type that makes a splendid warm-weather attraction.
The other feature for the first half of the week at the Merrimack Square is "The Gift Supreme," a strong drama of modern life, featuring Bernard Durning and Tully Marshall, two popular favorites. The story of the drama tells of the adventures of a sophisticated youth who falls in love with a poor girl. When he is about to marry her, his fastidious parents object and it is then that the battle of wits begins. He is even arrayed against a band of hired crooks but his squareness and policy of fair play win him his coveted prize.
A Christie comedy, the International News-Topics of the Day complete the bill.

tinguished bearing, wonderful gown and innate ability. The Strand for the first half of the week in her latest release, "A Dark Lantern," a story revolving about the war, yet never becoming seriously entangled with it at any time.
Miss Brady in this production is a daughter of wealth, pampered, petted and receiving the utmost attention from everybody. From men, especially, she looks for instant devotion. With this endowment of qualities she sets forth on a visit to Europe and there meets one Prince Anton, handsome, a breaker of hearts and an immediate admirer of the American girl. There is mutual appeal and the two depart with the understanding that they are to meet again.
At home the girl's father is being treated by a young physician, a serious-minded, free-thinking chap, who pays little or no attention to his patient's daughter. More or less stunned by the failure of any man to become infatuated with her, the daughter makes known her displeasure but it changes the attitude of the physician not a particle.
Then comes another meeting with the foreign prince, his suggestion that the girl become his mistress and her utter disgust. She leaves him, wearily returns home and suffers a breakdown. The same physician comes again, treats her in a wholly professional, impersonal manner and fails to respond to her rapidly developing affection for him.
The story goes on with the prince again appearing and the girl realizes that he is nothing but a cad. Eventually the feelings that really exist between the doctor and the girl are brought to the surface and the romance ends happily.
Miss Brady plays the stellar role in her usual accomplished manner and the house she wears are easily the most lavish and stunning shown in any Brady production. A capable cast supports the star.
The other feature for the first half of the week is Will Rogers rugged and virile as ever, in "The Strange Boarder," an unusual story of human interest. A comedy, the News-Topics and other short features, together with musical numbers, round out an excellent bill.

KEITH'S THEATRE
Ed. E. Ford is an Australian. He has been in the "States" but a short time. He was brought across the ocean by the managers of Keith's circuit, and, if there are any more artists of the quality of Mr. Ford in the States, American lovers of vaudeville would undoubtedly like to see them also brought over here.
Mr. Ford was the bright particular star of the program at Keith's when it opened for the season yesterday. He is set down upon the list of entertainers as a "Paradoxical Physiognomist." That means that he is a past grand master of the ancient art of "making faces." He wears a countenance apparently compounded of jelly and India rubber. His eyes are fixed in universal joint sockets. He can hold four golf balls in his mouth at one time. What is more, he can make you laugh with his strange facial contortions until you hang onto your sides. He is a whole host of comic cartoons in one person. Incidentally, he proved himself yesterday, something of an elocutionist.
For quite a number of years have been few comedy sketches seen in Lowell for a long time that are the equal of a "Friendly Call," presented by Chas. Mack & Company. The friendly call is made by a vaudeville team that cheer up a sick man, and does so by reminding him of ludicrous happenings, presenting him a wreath of flowers that would be useful in any event, and producing a handful of pipes that there should be one. The introduction of the bagpipes serves to really cheer up the sick man, and there is some good dancing by the young woman of the company.

The members of the Jack Hughes duo furnished some good entertainment by playing skillfully on a number of instruments. Nelson Story and Elsie Clark in "Songs" showed that they know how to sing and furnish an abundance of entertainment. Billy Frawley and Edna Louise in "Seven A. M." have an unusually entertaining skit. Agnes Finlay and Charley Hill were kept busy for awhile answering curtain calls at the close of their up-to-date act. "Vodvil a la Mode," Kennedy and Nelson are down on the bill as "Speed Boys" and they are just that. The pictures for the opening day were of more than ordinary interest.

book, "Quests of Hercules," by C. N. and A. M. Williamson? Whether you have or not, you must be sure to see it in picture form, under the title "Passion's Playground," playing at the Owl theatre this week. Katherine McDonald, a Lowell favorite, plays the leading part, that of Mary Grant, a convent girl, left at the age of 15 with $50,000 pounds and one to guide her, the lure of the gambler in her through inheritance and the daughter of a runaway mother.
Despite the warning of her friend, Molly Maxwell, who pointed to the fate of Marie Grant, a third whom she had run away from the convent with a married man, Mary responded to the call when she came into her inheritance at the age of 21, made big winnings and was the centre of attraction at Monte Carlo. Prince Vano Della Robbia fell in love with her. He introduced her to his brother, Prince Angelo, whose bride proved to be the runaway, Marie Grant. Mary in the meantime is the victim of adventures who seek to steal her riches. The prince, however, proves his mettle in a dramatic climax.
The prince, Norman Kerry, is a bit now in pictures, but he is sure to stay life's a handsome chap and plays his part with ease.
As for Miss McDonald, other critics have proclaimed this picture her best work. She has a sweet, sympathetic, winsome sort of a smile that wins you over every time, and her gown are dreamy creations.
Edwin Stevens plays the "heavy," Vincent Danbury, "last and least of his line." He isn't the least when it comes to villainy. But at last, there is a streak of good in him when he hesitates to use the powerful narcotic, of which he knows the danger, on Mary Grant, so that he and his Macbethian wife may get Mary's jewels.
The remainder of the cast is fully up to First National standard.
Charlie Chaplin went big yesterday, in his burlesque on "Carmen." Incidentally, Charlie puts in a bit of real acting, too, in the windup. Edna Persvance is the Carmen.
There's another girl in the films that you must cultivate, and that is Eileen Percy, playing the feminine lead in the serial, "The Third Eye." With Warner Oland, Eileen can fight her struggle to reach the precious celluloid containing proof of her guilt of murder was might realistic.
A Sunshine comedy, a news reel and a Ford educational weekly complete the bill.

HAVE GREAT RECORDS AS AMERICAN ATHLETES
KAYO ARTISTS LEAD IN OLYMPICS

In matching "Fighting" Ned Fitzgerald of Australia and Spider Roach of San Francisco for the main bout of the Crescent City on Thursday night, Matchmaker Harvey declares that he has secured another pair of action producers.

They are strangers to Lowell fans. Harvey and Fitzsimmons were, said Harvey, "but after the fans see them in action these battles will also prove great favorites."

Fitzgerald has been in this country but six weeks, and has engaged in only one bout. In that he scored a victory over George Egan, the Frenchman at Montreal, in five rounds. He is a terrific hitter and his record in Australia shows 15 knockouts in 31 bouts. He then went to England where he scored four kayo victories in four fights. He boasts of a victory over Frankie Bailey of Staten Island, a boy who made Jack Sharkey, Joe Lynch, Terry Martin and others extend themselves.

Since coming east Roach has set up a fine reputation as a puncher, scoring a knockout in his first fight, and starts. On the coast he put up a sensational four-round bout with Champion Benny Leonard.

EXPECT RECORD TURN

LAWRENCE, Aug. 17.—When Mike O'Dowd of St. Paul and Tommy Robson of Malden meet in a twelve round bout at Cuddy Brothers arena next Saturday afternoon, a record crowd is expected to witness the match. Since the announcement of the match there has been a big demand for tickets and especially during the past few days has the number of reservations been large, the advance sale by far exceeding that of any previous card offered by the Atlas A. A.

There is much interest in Boston regarding this bout. O'Dowd is quite a favorite there and Robson, too, has many admirers in the Hub. Robson is also a great favorite throughout England and when he meets O'Dowd, the Malden boy will be joyfully supported by many local fans as Robson always has been. Robson has been in this city, Boston fans, admirers of Robson, after reserving an section, have sent in a demand for another big bout of tickets and Robson will not lack for supporters when he meets the St. Paul fighter.

Matchmaker Johnny Cuddy has arranged a preliminary program which will include three eight-round bouts. Billy Edwards of Lawrence will meet Tony Vailan of Brighton. Mike Castle of Lawrence will oppose Frankie Ryan of Boston and Gerard Ganci of this city will meet Frank Molins of Lowell. The preliminary program will start at 2:30 o'clock.

BENNY LEONARD

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, will defend his title at Madison Square Garden about the middle of September. It was announced last night by his manager, Ed McHugh, that articles were signed last night by Gibson and "Tex" Rickard, representing Madison Square Garden, calling for a 15-round decision bout between Leonard and an opponent to be announced by Rickard "in a few days."

Rickard announced he would select the opponent from a list of eight fighters composed of Joe Welling, Eddie Fitzsimmons, Johnny Dundee, Lew Treadler and Charlie White. Leonard is to receive a guarantee of $20,000 but must post a forfeit of $20,000 to guarantee that he will make the lightweight limit for the bout.

ROBSON SAYS MUSIC
HATH ITS CHARMS

The Honey Boy quartet of this city were the guests of Tommy Robson of Malden, the boxer, who is to fight Mike O'Dowd in Lawrence next Saturday, at Robson's training quarters in North Reading Sunday afternoon and evening. The Lowell singers entertained the quartet with a series of songs and dialogues. They report the Malden fighter in excellent trim for the coming bout.

LOCAL FIREMEN LOSE

The team representing the first shift of the local fire department was defeated by the Derry, N. H., department on the latter's grounds yesterday afternoon, 7 to 3. Following the game the players enjoyed a luncheon at the Derry central fire station.

MAPLES ADD TO VICTORIES

The Maples added two more games to their long list of victories by defeating the strong State Infantry team at Tewksbury Saturday afternoon 7 to 4, and winning from the Old Timers Sunday afternoon, at the Dixwell grounds 11 to 2.

The features of the games were the pitching of Cox and McMahon and the fielding of Cunha and Foyle. The Maples would like to hear from Saco-Lowell or St. Peter's A. A. or any other strong team of the city.

SOCCER FOOTBALL

The soccer football game which was scheduled between Abbot Worsted Co. and Arlington Mills of Lawrence for Wednesday evening on the South Common has been called off on account of the Lawrence players being away on vacation.

The Abbot team's first away-from-home game will be against Amesbury at Manchester, N. H., Sept. 4.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Beacons met the U. S. Worsted aggregation Saturday afternoon on the North Common and the former won 5 to 3. The Beacons also defeated the Federals Sunday afternoon, 4 to 1, on the Chestnut Hill ground.

The Young Bunters would like to challenge the Liberty A. C. on the Lakeview avenue grounds Thursday at 6 o'clock.

U. S. WRESTLER WINS
Swigart Throws Italian—
Latter Kissed Winner at
Conclusion of Match

ANTWERP, Aug. 17.—In the Graeco-Roman wrestling preliminaries yesterday, Swigart, of the United States navy, threw Thre Ranglers, Italian, with a double arm bar after three minutes of wrestling. The Italian kissed the American at the conclusion of the match and Swigart returned the salute.

The crew of the United States naval academy continues practicing morning and afternoon, and these workouts never fail to attract the interest of Belgians who group along the canal critically watching the crew, rowing being one sport with which the townspeople have been long familiar. The vigor and snarl of the young Americans is a novelty here, European oarsmen generally being older men.

The Middles throw the entire weight of their bodies into the stroke and get a tremendous leg drive which makes the shell fairly leap. Another surprising American innovation in rowing is the work of the midshipmen in pushing their shells down to the water and then pulling back to the boat-house for their oars. Belgian crews have their oars brought to the landing stage by women attendants.

The Americans complain that the water in the canal is dead and heavy but nevertheless they have raced over the 200-metre course in better time than they made at Worcester, where they won the Olympic try-out on July 2.

Scores of Belgians are daily holding stop watches on the Americans doing their best to discover what the Middles can do in their shells.

Swedish oarsmen have arrived and are quartered next door to the Americans crew. The Swedish team consists of one four-oar shell; one two-oar shell and one single sculler. The oarsmen are big heavy men who apparently are between 25 and 35 years of age. Other European oarsmen are due here next week. They are at present at Lyons, France, where they are competing for the world's championships.

Sol Butler Yells Tendon

The heat qualifying for the final in the broad jump resulted today as follows:

Peterson, Sweden, first, distance 6.94 metres; Abrahamsson, Sweden, second, 6.58; C. E. Johnson, University of Michigan, third, 6.52; Frankson, Sweden, fourth, 6.13; R. L. Templeton, Leland Stanford University, fifth, 6.07; Aastad, Norway, sixth, 6.02.

Sw. Butler, Drake college, Dubuque, with 6.09 metres, pulled a tendon on the first jump and failed to qualify, as did J. W. Merchant, of the Olympic club of San Francisco, with 6.50 metres. The first qualifying heat in the 10,000 metre walk was won by Frigerio of Italy, J. R. Pearson, N.Y.A.C., was second; Parker of Australia third; Paresi of Italy, fourth, C. E. J. Gunn of England, fifth, and Segers of Belgium, sixth. W. J. Rolker of the New York A.C. was seventh, being shut out, as only the first six qualify. The winner's time was 47 minutes 6 2-5 seconds.

After the first heat of this event, it was discovered that the course covered was one lap short. The heat will stand, but the time was thrown out.

The second qualifying heat in the 10,000 metre walk resulted:

Hehr, England, first; McMaster, South Africa, second; T. A. Maroney, St. Andrew's A.A., New York, third; William Plant, Morningside A.C., New York, fourth; Melendez, Spain, fifth; Doyen, Belgium, sixth. The winner's time was 51 minutes, 34 3-5 seconds.

McDonald in Shotput

UNKNOWN MAN
KILLS HIMSELF

NORTH BROOKFIELD, Aug. 17.—The police are trying to identify the body of a man who committed suicide by shooting himself through the right temple with a small calibre revolver, probably some time yesterday. The body was found lying in a grove between Summer and Maple streets yesterday afternoon by passersby.

The revolver, with one cartridge exploded, lay a few inches from the body. The man was about 23 years old, with dark brown hair, gray eyes, and smooth shaven and pointed features. The teeth are perfect, with the upper frontal ones protruding. The body is clothed in a blue suit, coat size 36, bearing the label of Halbert & Co., Boston. The shoes are seven and one-half, blue top, and bear the mark of S. F. Martin, Westboro.

Medical Examiner Charles A. Deland Warren said death was self-inflicted. Residents of North Brookfield claim to have seen the man about North Brookfield the past two or three days, but none is able to give a clue to his identity.

Blow on Head Kills Chapman

baseball world in general, and today's game between Cleveland and New York was postponed. Carl Mays was overcome with grief when the news was told to him.

The accident occurred at the outset of the fifth inning. Chapman was the first batter up and was hit by the first ball pitched. So terrific was the blow that the report of the impact caused spectators to think the ball had struck his bat. Mays, who pitched the ball, acting under this impression, fielded the ball that rebounded half way to the pitcher's box, and threw it to first base, in order to retire Chapman.

Collapsed at Plate

Then it was noticed that Chapman had collapsed at the home plate. He was lifted to his feet by other players, then he stood dazed for a moment, staggered and crumpled up at their feet. Physicians were immediately called from the grandstand. They administered first aid, still not knowing that he had suffered a fractured skull. Two players with Chapman's arms about their shoulders, started to walk him off the field. He appeared to walk at first almost unaided, but in a few moments later his legs became limp and he had to be carried bodily to an ambulance.

Manager Tris Speaker and Business Manager Walter McNichols of Cleveland, went to the hospital immediately after the game and were at the institution when the operation was performed. The surgeons made an incision 3 1/4 inches long through the base of the skull on the left side. They discovered a rupture of the lateral sinus and a quantity of clotted blood. A small piece of the skull was removed.

May Hamper Cleveland's Chances

The physicians at first entertained a faint hope that the ball player would recover, but he failed to rally.

Mays, in discussing the accident, said that the ball he threw was a "sailer"—one that breaks sharply on one side, due usually to a rough spot on the cover. He asked for another ball before pitching to Speaker who followed Chapman at the plate, and the ball which fatally injured the shortstop was thrown out of the game.

In baseball circles, it was believed that Chapman's death would seriously hamper Cleveland's chance of capturing the American league pennant. He was a veteran and one of the mainstays of the team.

With Cleveland Since 1912

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 17.—Raymond Chapman was born in McHenry, Ky., January 15, 1891. He had been a member of the Cleveland American league team since August 30, 1912, and was considered one of the best short stops and most popular players in the game.

Chapman played his first professional baseball in 1909, with Mount Vernon, Ill. In 1910, he went to Springfield, Ill., and from there to Davenport, Ia., in the Three I league.

Cleveland first obtained Chapman from Davenport in 1911, and sold him to Toledo in the American association on option. He was returned to Cleveland in 1912, and had played in more than 1000 games in an Indian uniform. Chapman was one of the fastest men in baseball. On Sept. 27, 1917, Tim Lincecum Day at Boston, he won a loving cup for the fastest time in circling the bases, doing it in 14 seconds.

In 1917, he broke all major league sacrifice hit records with a total of 87, and also led the American league in sacrifices in the following two years.

He was married last year to Catherine Daly of Cleveland, daughter of M. B. Daly, president of the East Ohio Gas company.

PLAYERS WOULD
BAR CARL MAYS

BOSTON, Aug. 17.—Players of the Detroit and Boston clubs of the American league today prepared to draw up a petition asking for the banishment from organized baseball of Carl Mays of the New York Americans, whose pitched ball fractured the skull of Ray Chapman, Cleveland shortstop, in yesterday's game. Probability that the members of both teams would refuse to play in any game in which Mays was the pitcher, was expressed by some of the players.

The Red Sox team held a meeting in the clubhouse after yesterday's game, when word was received of Chapman's injury. It was agreed, according to Outfielder Menosky, that all would sign a petition to President Johnson of the league to have Mays ruled out of the game, if Chapman should die, and that the players would not go to bat against his pitching again. With news of his death this morning, the players expressed their sorrow and then discussed the carrying out of the plan for a petition.

"Stuffy" McInnis, Red Sox first baseman, hurried from his seaside home at Manchester, to be at the clubhouse early, to call a meeting of the players to act on Chapman's death.

Members of the Boston club, who were teammates of Mays until the latter deserted the club prior to his sale to New York last year, said they felt certain the Detroit players would join in such action as might be decided on.

"Ty" Cobb, the Detroit star, asserted that summary measures should be taken immediately. Oscar Stange, veteran catcher of the Tigers, said the players had already discussed action.

Mays has been a storm center of baseball controversy for years, first because of his close pitching, as a result of which players frequently complained that he had tried to "dust them off" and later when the deal between the Boston and New York clubs, by which he was transferred after he deserted the Red Sox, precipitated a factional fight among club owners and President Johnson, which threatened to disrupt the league.

OLD SALTS TELL OF MINE-LAYING

Lowell Men Had a Part in
Death-Defying Struggle in
North Sea

Battleship Takes a Wild
Plunge as Field of Bombs
is Exploded

Many incidents and facts connected with mine-laying by the United States navy in the North Sea have never been given to the public by the government. Two old sailors who know something about them are Chief Palm Turcotte, now pensioned from the navy after 20 years' service and living in this city, and Chief Joseph Crepeau of the local navy recruiting station, who has almost as many years to his credit, both of whom served on board the U. S. San Francisco in a mine-laying squadron in the North Sea during the world war.

The San Francisco, captained by H. R. Belknap, was one of ten vessels comprising a mining squadron of two sections which sheltered in two harbors in Inverness Firth, Scotland. Because the San Francisco was the flagship for the squadron, Chiefs Turcotte and Crepeau were in the midst of activities at all times.

Death-Defying Struggle

On May 25, 1918, the mining squadron anchored at 1 a. m. at Base 18 in the Firth. Preparations for their death-defying struggle were begun. On May 27, at 9 a. m. all hands were coal- ing ship, previous to a short rest before taking mines aboard at midnight. As darkness drew down upon the sea the mining squadron steamed out five miles from the city proper at Inverness, Scotland, and at exactly midnight the crews were set to work taking on mines, each of which was loaded with 200 pounds of "TNT," and weighed in all, including anchorage, about 1100 pounds.

While the crew worked like Trojans with nerves alert for the ever expected attack of a submarine or a destroyer squadron, anywhere from 50 to 170 mines were taken aboard each vessel. The method of loading the mine layers required about four or six lighters, with about 50 mines on each, to haul up alongside. By means of four booms, two on each side of a vessel, the mines were hoisted aboard onto tracks on the decks.

Loading the Mines

The utmost care was needed in loading the vessels with mines as they had to be placed correctly on deck tracks to be ready for instant use.

Chiefs Crepeau and Turcotte remember times when the mine-laying squadron was caught by the enemy in the act of taking on mines and when they were saved from destruction by the tactics of their protecting destroyers which threw a smoke screen around all the vessels, thus hiding their escape.

At another time the two officers say that when they were planting mines near Westray Firth, near the northern part of the Orkney Islands, the flagship sunk one submarine as it tried to plunge past the bow on its deadly errand to blow up a few of the American vessels.

The mines used by the San Francisco squadron were a new style provided with an electrical contact which would explode them as soon as touched with steel. So delicate was the contact that a mine would explode if touched by a handful of nails dropped upon it through the water.

Americans Had Best of It

The American mines were anchored in such a way that enemy vessels, plowing through the water, could not cut them from their anchorage and that them as the Americans could do with the German mines.

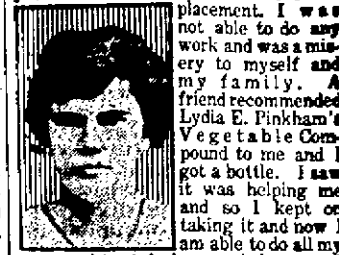

In August, 1918, the flagship San Francisco made a special excursion for experimental tests in countermining mines. The naval authorities were baffled by the exploding of many of the planted mines without any conceivable cause, but they suspected one fault was that when one mine exploded the concussion caused others nearby to do so. The San Francisco was sent out at full speed to drop depth charges at distances of 200 yards in the mine fields to find if that were true. At one place the squadron had planted a field of 30 mines, all closely laid in a very limited area.

The flagship, plowing through the water at a terrific rate of speed, and dropping depth charges as it went,

Charleston, Ill.—"I suffered for four years with female troubles and a displacement. I was not able to do any work and was a misery to myself and my family. A friend recommended Lydia E. I tell every woman about this fine Vegetable Compound and you may use these facts as a testimonial if you wish."

MARY JANE HOUSE, 409 N. 12th Street, Charleston, Ill.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

steamed by this field of thirty and, 200 yards ahead of it, dropped a powerful depth bomb.

Immediately the entire field of 30 exploded, throwing the San Francisco almost on top of the mountains of water which rose and fell back to the sea with a thundering roar.

Struck By Plunge

The hands below deck did not know about the field of 30 mines and were stupefied by the wild plunge the vessel took, many of them being thrown headlong.

After the armistice, the navy proceeded to pick up all the mines planted in the North Sea which had not exploded. When they were pretty well advanced with that work the commander of the flagship asked for volunteers to man two wooden sloops to sweep up those mines not already salvaged. An officer asked Chief Turcotte to volunteer, saying that if he came out all right he would be in the limelight. Chief Turcotte's idea was that if anything went wrong he would be so far in the moonlight that he could never hope to see the limelight.

In company with every other man aboard, however, with one-half hour given to decide, he volunteered his services along with Chief Crepeau.

Wooden sloops were sent out because they could hit a mine with a chance that it would not explode.

Since all the men offered their services, lots were drawn from a hat to designate the "lucky" ones. As it happened, Chiefs Turcotte and Crepeau were not among the men chosen and so they are living today. The two sloops met with ill fortune and some of the crews were blown to atoms.

POLISH UP THE GUN! BIRD LAW IS OFF

Local sportsmen, whose fingers have been itching for the past nine months to handle a trusty guage again, will be interested to know that beginning yesterday morning at one-half hour before sunrise (Massachusetts daylight saving time) it was lawful to hunt and kill migratory shore birds. Most of these birds will pass over this state between now and the fifteenth of September and at the present time thousands are along our shores and in the marshes along the coasts and rivers.

The federal and state laws require that only the four following species of these birds can be killed: Black breasted plover, golden plover, greater yellow legs and lesser yellow legs. Particular attention is called to the fact that the so-called "sand-peeps" must not be killed or hunted.

Only 15 in the aggregate of the above four species can be killed by each hunter in one day. Hunting cannot be done from a boat propelled other than by oars or paddlers or from automobiles.

All sportsmen realize that the regular hunting license is necessary before they start on a shore hunting trip and that guns larger than 10 gauge cannot be used in hunting these migratory birds.

Sportsmen who are thinking of running down to the marshes to take a crack at these crafty little creatures should realize that these rules have not only been written in the state laws but also in the federal laws and violators of these regulations will be haled before the United States commissioner in Boston. The federal regulations on these and other migratory birds are under a treaty made between this country and Great Britain in 1917 for the uniform protection of migratory birds on the North American continent. Hence, the authorities regard this matter as very important and not trivial as to the sportsman's eye.

Director of Fisheries and Game, William C. Adams, of the state department and the United States game wardens in this locality have announced that this year the laws will be enforced to the limit, despite the fact that for the past year or so, until the supreme court declared the law constitutional and congress appropriated the money to enforce the regulations, the laws have been rather laxly enforced.

The town of Digny, France, was reduced in population from 10,000 to 1500 by a plague in 1623.

Are the Best Tires too good for the Small Car Owner

EVERYBODY agrees that it is generally desirable for merchandise to be graded.

A good principle that often comes out at the wrong end for the car owner—the man with the upkeep on his mind—the tire bills to pay.

He feels that tire economy should be a personal contract with the tire-user. Not a transaction with his car, whether it be big or small.

Reasoning tires in human terms instead of trade custom has written this policy for the United States Rubber Company—

Build all tires to one

standard and let the tire user choose his own size.

When the oldest and largest rubber manufacturing concern in the world focuses all its resources upon one grade, one quality, it makes one client—and that is the whole public.

This single ideal is visible in any U. S. Tire factory, at any U. S. distributing branch, in any U. S. dealer's store.

Seeing that the tire-user gets his economy mileage along with an unlimited guarantee.

Policies are harder to make than tires.

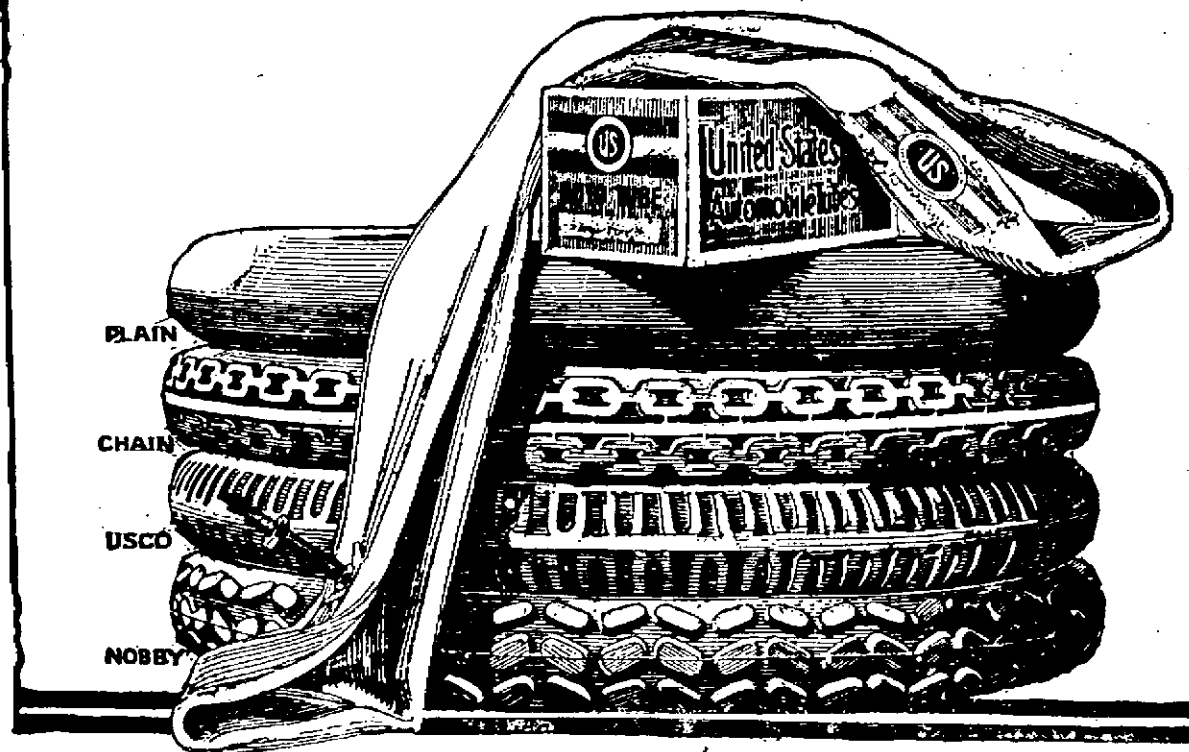

Probably the deepest reason why U. S. demand keeps always ahead of the number of tires the U. S. makers can supply.

LYDD GEORGE'S TREACHERY

Again an ominous war cloud lowers over Europe and threatens another world holocaust. The Bolsheviks are thundering at the gates of Warsaw and threaten a German alliance against the rest of the world.

The United States and France have taken a bold stand against any recognition of a Bolshevik Russia. France, in adopting a course entirely in accord with that of the United States, has had to cast aside the leadership of Premier Lloyd George of England who was preparing to compromise with the soviet leaders, even to the extent of recognition of their government.

But for this set-back by the United States and France the British premier would have laid the plans for the universal recognition of the Bolshevik regime, thus enabling the leaders to plan new conquests.

It is true, that they may be able temporarily to extend their authority over Poland, but in deciding to treat with them, Lloyd George was thinking more of the safety of India than of Poland. Because the Russians had entered Persia and had threatened India, the British premier has practically agreed to sacrifice Poland in order to save India. He has indicated a willingness to accept the drastic terms by which Poland would be shorn of all power and placed under Bolshevik control. It appears also that he is ready to sit at the same council table with Trotsky and Lenin, although both they and their representatives have openly boasted that they were ready to sign treaties with other powers without having the least intention of observing them, their position being that no contract or agreement with the non-Bolshevik governments can bind them morally.

The fact is, that they have no moral sense or principle and that it would, therefore, be futile to treat with them by any other means than force. The attitude taken by President Wilson on this question has met the approval of all the powers which are not infected by the Bolshevik germ. As for Lloyd George, he himself is of Bolshevik tendencies and the result is seen in the strong, popular protest entered in England against any step calculated to bring about the defeat of Soviet Russia.

Premier Millerand of France, echoing the words of Secretary Colby addressed to the ambassador of Italy, says:

"We cannot have official relations with a government which is resolved to conspire against our institutions, whose diplomats would be instigators of revolts and whose orators proclaim that they will sign contracts with the intention of not fulfilling them."

The Bolsheviks may take Warsaw and conquer Poland, but in view of what they are, to compromise with them in any way would only extend their sway and their influence. It would be regarded as a surrender by the powers so recognizing them and as such would vastly increase their prestige throughout the world.

There is a new European menace which seems also to threaten the United States, but we are not afraid of it and we will hold aloof from any other power that would invite the Bolshevik looters to join the family of nations without first repudiating its policies of pillage, slaughter and violation of all the principles of morality upon which our modern civilization is founded.

REPUBLICANS BLAMED

It is not creditable to the republican legislature of this state that any such scheme as that foisted on the public by Mr. Ponzi should be permitted to fool the people without being questioned by any government official. From the very nature of the proposition, any official, even slightly conversant with financial affairs, could see that it was a gigantic fraud, yet it was allowed to carry on openly without let or hindrance until other banking officials became alarmed at the extent of the Ponzi operations. Simon Swig had the foresight to order the Ponzi deposits removed from the financial institution with which he is connected, but State Treasurer Burrell did not see any reason why he should withdraw the state deposits from the Hanover Trust company, the chief depository of the Ponzi funds.

er during the seven months in which Ponzi was engaged in swindling the people? Is he not supposed to concern himself with any banking operation involving large deposits or loans at excessive rates of interest?

It is a fact that certain stock jobbing concerns that were driven out of other states, found an asylum here. With these the bank commissioner had nothing to do as their business was not one of deposit. But surely that of Ponzi came under his jurisdiction and yet it was conducted for months without being molested. Somebody else is to blame almost as much as Ponzi.

Evidently the people want a better enforcement of the laws now in existence or else the enactment of new laws to protect the people from such swindling schemes.

There should be a law under which some state official would pass upon every financial scheme calling for money from the people or offering stock for sale. The so-called "blue sky law" may be regarded as too drastic; but if we had such a law in this state, the people would be protected against swindles of the Ponzi type and against various wild investments foisted upon the public and represented as wealth producers in cases in which there are no tangible assets beyond an imaginary mine or an untested and wholly worthless oil field.

The Ponzi affair proves the inadequacy of our laws and the gullibility of our people, many of whom drew their money from the savings banks in which it was perfectly safe and where it was earning a good rate of interest, to hand it over to a princely swindler under promise of impossible profits.

Had Governor Coolidge been as conversant with business as with politics, he would have noted this necessity and appealed to the legislature for a law that would protect the people; but he didn't and as a result, under his very nose, right in Boston, the supposed home of "law and order," the public is swindled and even the state is victimized in the financial crash. If he failed in foresight let him at least show reasonably good hindsight and urge the legislature in the coming special session to pass a law that will shield the people against financial sharks and get-rich-quick schemes of every description.

THE STATE LOSES

To say "the least, the attitude of State Treasurer Burrell in reference to the deposit of $125,000 in the Hanover Trust company, now wrecked by the Ponzi swindle, is not what might be expected of a public official who by mismanagement or lack of plain business sagacity has allowed the state funds to be included in the assets of a bank whose solvency was held in doubt for several weeks before being actually closed.

Treasurer Burrell tries to shift the blame to the state bank commissioner, but for this he has no justification whatever. He tries to make it appear that the bank commissioner should have notified him that the bank was in trouble so that the state deposits might have been withdrawn before the bank was ordered closed.

That claim is ridiculous. Had the bank commissioner privately gone to the state treasurer and given him a tip on the condition of the bank so that the state funds might be withdrawn before the bank was declared insolvent, he would be guilty of malfeasance and could be proceeded against for conspiring to save one depositor at the expense of the others.

Furthermore, if reports are correct, the state treasurer has shown some unwillingness to reveal the various other banks in which state funds are deposited. Even the governor seemed to have difficulty in finding this information, just as if the state treasurer were the proprietor of the funds rather than the public custodian who should stand ready at any time to give an account of the distribution thereof among selected banks.

Shakespeare asks, "What's in a name?" but the name of the state treasurer might be cited to disprove the conclusion of the great dramatist. There is sometimes a great deal in a name and as in this particular case, there is much in the spelling of a name. The republicans of Massachusetts have found out that one of their most serious blunders has resulted from the fact of their having overlooked the insertion of an "e" for an "i" in the name of their candidate for state treasurer.

AID POLAND

The Poles, naturally anxious for the fate of the motherland, appeal to the United States for aid, hoping that the promise of President Wilson to render all available aid will result in something practical being done. Words of sympathy are of no earthly use to Poland at the present time and if aid is to be offered, it should be prompt and effective. The Polish residents of the United States will doubtless do all in their power; but we owe a debt to Poland as we did to France and we should pay it now if ever.

The federal government has taken the necessary steps to have the United States supreme court pass upon the question whether the penalties fixed in the Lever act for profiteering in clothing can be applied to profiteers in cloth before it is made into garments. The question is one of importance, inasmuch as if the decision of the federal courts in the case against President Wood of the American Woolen company, he sustained, one set of profiteers is liable to severe penalties while another equally culpable is entirely immune.

The mill situation is reported as none too encouraging, viz., the demand for new goods does not seem to be brisk as yet; but with the opening of September, the dealers will want their empty shelves replenished. So long as the production lags behind the actual needs of the people, there is no danger of panic or prolonged shut-down.

The taking down of the train shed of the North station, in Boston, recalls that, when the building was being erected, many Bostonians found fault with its architecture, and were informed by the railroad company that the building was intended only for temporary use. "Temporary" in this case has meant 27 years.

The nine-word will of Dr. Hayes Clement of Philadelphia, written in lead pencil on a scrap of paper and devising an estate valued at $35,000 to his wife, has been admitted to probate, against the protest of his aged mother, who would have inherited $15,000, but who has two daughters living in affluence. The will, written by Dr. Clement the night before, his wife went to a hospital for a serious operation, reads: "If Lois lives, I will her all I own."

Very Quiet Wedding

After a little tea party the children were playing some game quietly in a corner of the room. The lady of the house was curious to know what was keeping them so interested, so she called her own girl toward her. "What game are you playing, Mollie?" she asked. "Weddings, mother," replied the small girl. "I'm the bride, and Margery Jones is the bridegroom." "And who is the bridegroom?" asked mother, knowing that there was no small boy among the guests. "O," came the quick answer. "This is only a very quiet wedding, you know."

McGRAW REFUSES

TO BE INTERVIEWED

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—"Too ill to be interviewed"—this was the message delivered yesterday to federal prohibition enforcement agents who called at the home of John J. McGraw to ask the manager of the New York Giants if it was true he had bought whiskey at the Lambs club, prominent actors' club.

An admission to this effect, alleged to have been made to the district attorney's office in connection with its investigation of how John C. Slavin, actor, received a fracture of the skull in front of McGraw's house a week ago yesterday attracted the attention of James S. Shevlin, chief enforcement official in this city. It was he who despatched the dry agents to the McGraw home, with the threat that if the baseball man did not voluntarily present himself at the federal district attorney's office, a subpoena for his appearance would be sought. The agents reported that they had been unable personally to see McGraw, who is recovering from a blow on the head. This blow, he has told the district attorney's office, was received in a scuffle in the Lambs clubhouse before he left for home with Slavin in a taxi-cab the night the actor also was injured.

Slavin's condition yesterday was reported worse and for this reason, District Attorney Swann announced he would not present the case to the grand jury for a few days.

Meanwhile dry agents announced

MAN ABOUT TOWN

It might be well to warn Lowell druggists that Attorney-General J. Weston Allen of Massachusetts has given out his opinion that the board of registration in pharmacy can suspend or revoke the permits, certificates, registration or license of any druggist who sells tincture of Jamaica ginger "for purposes of intoxication." That such a sale of Jamaica ginger constitutes a gross violation of the law and that a pharmacist's license may be revoked for such offence, even though there is no actual court conviction.

When a druggist is knowingly selling tincture of Jamaica ginger as a beverage, he is doing so in violation of the Volstead act which, having been passed to enforce the Eighteenth amendment of the federal constitution, is the law of the land. Since Jamaica ginger contains more than 10 per cent. alcohol, it is an intoxicating liquor within the meaning of Section 2 Chapter 100 of the revised laws of this commonwealth, which states that any beverage containing more than 1% alcohol by volume, at 60 degrees Fahrenheit, is intoxicating. Under the provisions of this statute the pharmacy board is no longer required to defer suspension of a license or certificate of regulation until a person violating the law has been found guilty or even until he has violated any law. Deceit, or gross misconduct in the practice of his profession is a sufficient ground for suspension, revocation or cancellation of a druggist's license.

By this opinion the attorney general recognizes that the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act are an integral part of the law of this commonwealth to be observed and enforced by the board of registration in pharmacy to the extent of its authority.

Late Monday afternoon Lowell people had an opportunity to get an idea of what a genuine "yellow day" may be like. The sky, where it was not thickly overcast with clouds, held that mysterious quality of dim orange haze that puzzles the eyes, casts strange shadows, and gives the green of the grass and trees a sickly, unearthly tinge that is somehow suggestive of seasickness. The peculiar atmospheric conditions lasted for an hour or more, and then gradually faded away. While the conditions lasted it is very likely that there were some people in Lowell, whose hair is thinning and growing white, who remembered a famous "yellow day" that came when they were children. President James A. Garfield was shot in a railroad station in Washington on the day preceding the Fourth of July. He was taken to the White House. There through a long, hot summer he hovered between life and death while the whole nation watched anxiously at his bedside. Day after day the doctors issued bulletins in which they speculated about the location of the bullet that was still in the president's body. They did not dare to probe it, and there was no X-ray to tell them where it was. Artificial refrigeration was undeveloped. Many makeshifts were adopted to reduce the heat in the room where the patient lay at the point of death all through the long summer. Then, early in September, the announcement was made that the president was to be taken to Long Branch. It was realized that it was to be a crucial experience. The people of the whole country almost held their breaths as they waited for the outcome of the journey. On the day on which the trip was made the earth was enveloped in the unnatural haze of a "yellow day." Superstitious people, and some who were not superstitious, believed the end of the world was at hand. That day is recalled as "yellow Tuesday."

They would make another attempt to interview McGraw on the liquor angle, which, if true, will result in investigation of the Lambs, according to Mr. Shevlin.

VICTORY MEDALS FOR

LOWELL SERVICE MEN

According to Eli B. Hart, secretary of the local post of the American Legion who has been designated as the one in charge of the distribution of Victory medals in this city, already 250 applications for the medals have been filled out. The medal is cast in bronze about the size of a half-dollar and bears an image of Liberty on its face, with the United States shield and the names of the victorious allies on the obverse. The ribbon is of rainbow hue and bears across its face bars of bronze, one for every engagement in which the soldier, sailor or marine participated. The medals will be given to all men who participated on either side of the water.

LYDD GEORGE WOULD

MEET IRISH DELEGATES

LONDON, Aug. 17.—In reply to a question in the house of commons yesterday Premier Lloyd George again announced the willingness of the government to discuss with any representatives of Irish opinion any proposals for a settlement.

The premier said such discussion would be subject to three conditions, as follows:

First, that the six counties of Northern Ulster must be treated separately; second, that there must be no secession directly or indirectly on any part of Ireland from the United Kingdom; and third, "We cannot agree to anything that would involve any detraction from the security of these islands or of their safety in case of war."

The Sinn Feiners would not be ruled out if they were prepared to accept these conditions, Premier Lloyd George said.

"Good lands, no—I mean, good waters, no!" exclaimed the fairy. "Torty is as clean as the inside of an orange peel. It's about his looks, I mean. He'd never do in the movies."
"Why?" asked Nick. It did seem as though the children never would get done asking questions.
"Why?" repeated Tingaling. "You'll know why when you see a creature with a body like a turned-over butter bowl, a beak like Polli-parrot's, a neck like a piece of bologna sausage, and a tail about as handsome as a string bean, to say nothing at all about his hands and feet!"
Suddenly the island they were sitting on gave a shiver and a shake.

was little to indicate any immediate settlement of the matter.

It became known yesterday that the federal government is watching the meeting here, a local representative of the department of justice admitting that he was watching the conference developments regarding the possibility of any strike action by the miners.

OPERATORS AND MINERS

FAIL TO AGREE

CLEVELAND, O. Aug. 17.—Members of the joint scale committee of the central competitive bituminous coal field were deadlocked last night after the operators had refused the miners' demands for increased wages and the miners in turn had rejected a counterproposal of the operators and a joint sub-committee, appointed to consider the situation, adjourned after a three-hour session without reaching an agreement.

The miners on Saturday presented a demand for a $2 a day increase for day and month laborers and a 10 per cent. ton increase for pick and machine mining.

In their reply yesterday the operators offered to award the seeming inequality of the award of the bituminous coal commission last March, under which the pick mining rate was advanced 27 per cent. over the then existing contract, and the day and monthly men were given an advance of only 20 per cent. by advancing the wages of the day and monthly men to the equivalent of the pick miners' advance. The operators, however, refused to consider any other demands made by the miners, including the 10 per cent. per ton asked for pick and machine mining.

On receipt of the operators' proposal, the miners promptly rejected it and a sub-committee of the joint-scale committee was appointed to try and reach a settlement.

After adjournment last night members of the sub-committee said there

PHILADELPHIA MINT IN LAST FISCAL YEAR

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—The Philadelphia mint turned out 501,000,000 coins in the last fiscal year.

Raymond T. Baker, director of the United States mint, gave out the figures after inspecting the institution. New die-cutting machines, electric furnaces and carrying devices have been installed within the last year and efficiency methods have been adopted which greatly increase the output of the mint.

The increase last year was about 25 per cent. over 1919. In 1916 a little over a million coins were produced.

Mr. Baker recently returned from San Francisco mint where he is preparing to install improved machinery similar to that in the Philadelphia mint.

"With the recent additions," said Mr. Baker, the Philadelphia mint is now not only the largest mint in this country but manufactures a larger number of coins than any other mint in the world."

RETURNS FROM THE WEST

Lowell Business Man Relates Incidents of Splendid Trip to Pacific Coast

"There is more beauty in one square mile of New England territory than in whole states in the west," said Albert B. O'Hair to a Sun reporter this morning. Mr. O'Hair has recently returned from a seven-weeks' trip across the continent to the Pacific coast. He was accompanied by members of his family.

The trip was made to California by way of Chicago, Denver and Ogden, Utah. The return journey was via the Santa Fe through the Grand Canyon, New Mexico and Kansas.

"The long reaches of sage brush of the west are not interesting," said Mr. O'Hair. "You wonder how the people have built up such a vast empire of prosperity out of such apparently unpromising material. But everywhere you go you find evidence of state pride on the part of the people. There are no 'knockers' out there such as we have in the east. Everybody is a 'booster' and he is 'boosting' his native village, city or state all the time."

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Multisid coconut oil shampoo for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful of all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Adv.

More Phosphate or Lose Your Youthful Looks

Lack of Phosphate in Blood and Nerve Cells Age Many People Before Their Time—Is Current Report.

The people who stand up and laugh at hot, sultry weather are the ones who have plenty of phosphorus in their systems. If you are weak, become played out early on a hot day; if you become irritated easily; lose your patience and cannot concentrate your mind on difficult problems, then you need Phospho-Phosphate, a pure organic phosphate that feeds your starving nerves just the food they need.

It is a simple matter that all modern physicians understand. If you, man or woman, desire a sturdy, virile body with an abundance of nerve force and endurance—if you want a keen, active mind that won't tire under severe strain, then you must have plenty of phosphorus in blood, nerve and bone cells and a pure organic phosphate known as Phospho-Phosphate is just what you need.

Get Phospho-Phosphate as dispensed by A. W. Dows and all good druggists in the original package; it should revive your depressed spirits and renew your ambition. It should make you look younger and feel younger, physicians assert.—Adv.

"Los Angeles is a wonderful city. It is forging ahead in population and it looks as though it might, before a great many years, overtake and pass San Francisco. New people are flowing into town to take up their residences all the time. It is said that only five per cent. of the population of Los Angeles was born in the city."

"I was told that Los Angeles is not a good place for laboring people to go to. A considerable part of the people who are now there have funds sufficient to live in comfort and many of them are willing to take jobs merely to have an occupation of some sort or to add a little to their incomes."

"An interesting feature of California industry is the way in which different sections of the country are given up to different crops. One large section raises beans exclusively; another section apricots; another plums, for instance. In the fruit industry the marketing is done co-operatively with great success.

Booming Oil Industry

"In many places in California are evidences of the great interest that is being taken in the production of oil. Wells can be seen sandwiched in on open lots between the finest residences. At one place I saw wells that had been sunk through the bottom of the ocean and out of which oil was being pumped. The cost of living in the west is far below what it is in the east. At Los Angeles we had a breakfast of fruit, cereal and cream, good beefsteak, potatoes, rolls and coffee, and all for 55 cents."

"The weather at San Francisco was so cool that we needed our overcoats morning and evening."

"An impressive feature of parts of the west is what has been accomplished as the result of irrigation. Everybody in these sections is boasting and talking about the wonders to come that new irrigation projects are to bring about. A mighty plan is being developed for damming the Colorado river and irrigating thousands of acres."

"Utah is provided with great deposits of coal and progress is being made toward getting it out of the ground for consumption. As you ride along the railroad you will see small narrow gauge lines running off to coal mines in the mountains."

Summer-Spoiled Skin Removed by Absorption

As undue summer exposure usually leaves an undesirable surface of tan, redness or roughness, often freckles, too, the sensible thing to do is to remove such surface. There's nothing better for this than ordinary mercolized wax, which actually absorbs an unwholesome complexion. The thin layer of surface skin is itself absorbed gently, gradually so there's no inconvenience, no detention indoors. Spread the wax lightly over the entire face at bedtime and take it off in the morning with warm water. If you will get one ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store, use it for a week or so, you may expect marked improvement daily. When the underlying skin is wholly in view your complexion will be a marvel of spotless purity and beautiful whiteness.

Don't let those summer wrinkles worry; worry breeds more wrinkles. Banish them by bathing the face in a solution of powdered saxolite, one oz. dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. Used daily for a while this will be found wonderfully effective.—Adv.

Archbishop Declares He Will Visit Country as a Free Citizen

Denounces Lloyd George's Proposal to Bring Aged Mother to London

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Proposals by Premier Lloyd George in the house of commons yesterday that every facility would be given the mother of Archbishop Mannix to come to London from Ireland to visit her son, were denounced as "preposterous" by the archbishop said the Daily Mail. The archbishop said his mother could not possibly travel, owing to her great age, no matter how much assistance should be given her. He also denied having said he wished to go to Ireland for personal reasons. "I will go to Ireland," he declared, "and it will be with all the freedom of a free citizen."

The prelate denied rumors that he had been summoned to Rome and said he adhered to his original intention to go to Rome about Christmas time.

HISTORIC BIG GUN UNIT AFTER RECRUITS

The 42nd U. S. Artillery (C.A.C. railroad), is now stationed at Camp Devens with the assignment of the entire New England district as its recruiting field. The history of the artillery regiment is intensely interesting and can be traced back to the period of the American revolution. A special endeavor is being made by the local army recruiting station to enlist men for duty with this historic unit who would be assigned to recruiting duty in New England for some time to come. The base camp of this branch is at Camp Eustis, Virginia, to which it will return after its recruiting tour.

The early artillery companies of which the present are the descendants fought in the War of 1812, in the Florida war, in the Mexican war, in the Civil war and since then in several other campaigns and expeditions. The service of the artillery is written in golden letters on the pages of American history.

In August, 1917, a regiment was organized at Fort Adams, Rhode Island, from some of the old regular coast artillery organizations. This regiment was called the 7th provisional regiment and was assigned to the first expeditionary brigade, coast artillery. The 7th Provisional regiment arrived in France in September, 1917. In February, 1918, its designation was changed to the 52nd artillery, C.A.C. On the 7th of August, batteries 1, K, L and M of the 52nd Artillery, C.A.C., were formed into batteries A, B, C, D, E and F, respectively, of the 42nd Artillery, C.A.C. In February, 1918 a provisional battalion, composed of two batteries of the 52nd and two of the 54th, went on the firing line. Three of these batteries are now batteries C, D, and E of the 42nd Artillery. Battery F fired the first shot of the coast artillery in the world war on February 13, 1918. Corporal Huska of this battery pulled the lanyard and received a letter of commendation from the chief of the coast artillery.

The shot was fired from a 32 cm. (about 13 inches) French railroad gun, at Somme Suippe on the Bulle de Messin line. The regiment actively participated in engagements in the following sectors: LaChapelle sous Rougemont, Dams Marie, Somme Suippe, Bulle de Messin, St. Mihiel, Bois de Champeaux, Foret de St. Paul, Camp de Nantivet, Dommarin-sur-Hans and Champaing Marne defensive.

Batteries E and F on July 4, 1918, participated in the enemy offensive at Bois Sabot and Eples de la Justice, respectively. Battery E received an army citation from General Pelain, and the regimental color was decorated with a Croix de Guerre with one branch of laurels in the Cour St. Andre at Nantivet by Lieutenant General Legare of the French army. Two officers and 15 men also were decorated with the French war cross. Later on three enlisted men were presented with the distinguished service cross.

On February 2, 1919, two of the batteries formed an escort of honor for Gen. John J. Pershing, who inspected the entire command on that date. On the 18th of the same month the "Kronland," bearing the 42nd Artillery, docked at Newport News, Va., just 18 months after the 7th Provisional regiment, C.A.C., had embarked on its quest for unknown honors across the seas.

Camp Eustis is the home of the railroad artillery, being the only one in the United States where the artillery can fire at long range at moving naval targets on the water. Its 8000 acres are on a peninsula bounded by the James and Warwick rivers.

Any young men interested in this unit can see the sergeant in charge of the local army recruiting station or go directly to the commander's office at Camp Devens.

Eczema Caused Years of Intense Agony

"I have suffered intense agony from eczema on my leg and other parts of my body for years, and received only temporary relief from other preparations. It is only a month since I started to use PETERSON'S OINTMENT and the itching, burning, redness, and itching has disappeared. You can refer to Geo. C. Talbot, 27 Penfield street, Buffalo, N. Y."

"I've got a hundred testimonials," says Peterson of Buffalo, "just as sincere and honest as this one. Years ago, when I first started to put out PETERSON'S OINTMENT, I made up my mind to give a big box for 35 cents, and I am still doing it, as every druggist in the country knows."

"I guarantee PETERSON'S OINTMENT because I know that its mighty healing power is marvelous. I say to every one who says a box that it is rigidly guaranteed for eczema, scald, rheum, old sores, blind, bleeding and itching piles, ulcers, skin diseases, chafing, burns, scalds and sunburn, and if not satisfactory any druggist will return your money. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv."

DOES YOUR BACK ACHE?

If you are troubled with back aches, it is a bet that they are caused by weak kidneys; they don't perform their duties, and you should look out, as there is trouble brewing.

When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, headache, dizzy spells, and it is more than likely to bring on rheumatism.

The urine is often cloudy, full of sediment, your sleep disturbed by being "compelled" to arise, one or more times during the night, because of the pain, irritation and abnormal condition of the kidneys and bladder.

If you will take from 10 to 20 drops of SEVEN BARKS in a little water after meals, you will correct the alkalinity of your secretions, thus giving you undisturbed sleep and peaceful rest, preparing you for your next day's duties.

When the kidneys are not doing their duty they allow impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which will cause serious trouble unless they are driven from your system.

If you eat regularly, you should flush the kidneys occasionally with SEVEN BARKS, as meat forms uric acid which clogs the pores, so they can not throw off the poisons.

Don't neglect your kidneys, trouble with the first symptoms, you will be sorry if you do. Get SEVEN BARKS of your druggist, at a cost of only 50 cents.

GIANT SHIP COMBINE

Contract of N. Y. Company With Hamburg-American Line Approved.

WASHINGTON, August 17.—The formation of a gigantic steamship combine composed of the Harriman steamship lines, including the American Ship and Commerce corporation, the United American Lines, Inc., and the Hamburg-American line, was announced yesterday by Chairman Benson of the shipping board.

In his summary of the agreements the chairman declared that "the shipping board would look forward to seeing one of its constructive plans carried out."

"There is no German money in the American end of the business in any place, nor is there any agreement expressed or implied for German investment in any of the American companies," he added.

The arrangement is for 20 years and consists, the chairman said, of a general agreement covering the principles to be followed by the two concerns and an operating agreement covering the methods of carrying out the plan.

In general, it provides that each party may participate with an equal amount of tonnage in such passenger and freight services as shall be established which will include between the United States and Germany and ports of the world other than the United States. Pier facilities, ports and office organizations of both companies are placed at the disposal of the service.

The American Ship and Commerce Corporation will act as agent for the Hamburg-American line in United States ports and the German company as agent for the American company in German ports, but each company may establish offices in the country of the other to supervise the activities there. Each company is to appoint its own agents outside of Germany and the United States.

BABIES NEED WATCHFUL CARE IN HOT WEATHER

Unless the parents of Lowell babies exert the utmost care during the present heated period, the infant mortality rate of the city for the next few weeks will mount very high, according to Agent Francis J. O'Hare of the board of health.

Agent O'Hare suggests that the board of health office be notified as soon as a baby develops intestinal trouble as a result of the heat so that one of the child welfare nurses of the department may be sent to look after the child and make recommendations before the illness reaches a serious stage of development.

"We have nurses here," Mr. O'Hare said this morning, "who could take over a baby's illness until a doctor could be called if we were notified promptly. Ordinarily, the nurses devote their time to keeping well babies well in addition to looking after cases of illness which come to their attention, but in this warm weather the health department is ready to have them give all their time to sick babies."

"We want to know about illness among infants as soon as it develops so that immediate steps may be taken to prevent it from becoming serious. Very often parents are prone to think that slight illness in a child will not amount to anything and are inclined to let the matter go without calling either a nurse or a doctor. In warm weather, however, even the slightest illness in an infant is liable to become serious unless immediate medical attention is given."

"For that reason our child welfare nurses will concentrate all their efforts during the warm weather to looking after sick children. Unless we have the co-operation of parents, our infant mortality rate for the next few weeks is going to be exceptionally high."

The board of health telephone number is 349 and the service of the nurses is free.

ROOSEVELT RAPS G. O. P. LEADERS IN N. DAKOTA

FARGO, N. D., Aug. 17.—In his first address in North Dakota, Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic candidate for vice-president, declared here yesterday that the democratic party, if elected, pledges itself to "seek a solution of the problems that will serve the best interests of the producer and the great consuming public."

"I am particularly glad to read that the 'porch' campaign of the republicans is breaking down," Mr. Roosevelt said, "and that Senator Harding has now condescended to make five whole speeches away from home."

"The theory of the democratic campaign is, of course, just the contrary. Our candidates are trying not merely to carry the campaign to the country but to find out what the country is thinking."

"This difference in attitude of mind extends to the way in which the leaders of the two parties handle all public questions. The democratic theory is that big national problems ought to be settled from a national point of view and ought not to be undertaken by a mere gathering in Washington of half a dozen old line leaders who do not know the country and who represent the kind of things that Penrose of Pennsylvania, Lodge of Massachusetts, Root of New York and others of that group advocate, who were in control of the Chicago convention and who would be in control of your government if a republican president is elected."

CALLS FOR REPORT BY H. V. GREENE CO.

BOSTON, Aug. 17.—The H. V. Greene company of 25 Huntington avenue, Boston, with branches in many parts of the country, is the latest concern to receive the attention of state investigators. Atty. Gen. J. Weston Allen admitted yesterday that his office was conducting an inquiry into the affairs of the company, whose phenomenal growth since its incorporation, on Jan. 14, 1918, has placed it within the ranks of the large financial houses of the country.

William D. T. Trefry, commissioner of corporations, said a statement of the financial condition of the company was long overdue. He sent a registered notice to the company with the past four days calling attention to the neglect to comply with the law. Then he reported the case to Atty. Gen. Allen.

The law required the filing of a financial statement on April 1. It was stated at the office of the commissioner. The last statement received from the Greene company was in January, 1919, one year and a half ago.

John Jacob Arnold, confidential secretary of H. V. Greene, president and treasurer of the company, said last night that the failure to file the required report was a mistake, and that it would be placed in the hands of the commissioner in corporations today. "It was not filed through some misunderstanding," he said. "Certified public accountants are now preparing the certificate of condition. Mr. Greene is at his home in Weston and has no comment to make. It is true no report has been filed since January, 1919. We are supposed to have 90 days' grace after the annual meeting April 1."
